Possible Conflict of Interest Forcing Gus Escher to Resign from Council

Gus Escher announced this week that because of the nature of a new job, he will resign from Borough Council at its March 9 meeting.

Mr. Escher, who has never been called by his full name of Gustav E. Escher III, said his work on Council had been exciting and not without laughs, exploded in some frustration over what he regards as a "less pro-housing" Planning Board, revealed "the fondest of memories" even for people he has disagreed with intensely, and promised to keep in close touch with Democratic politics.

A licensed planner (masters degree in architecture and urban planning from Princeton University, he has been promoted to the position of Assistant Executive Director of the New Jersey Housing Finance Agency. Since 1974, he has been director of research and development for the NJHFA. He was elected to Borough Council in 1975, and would have come up for re-election this year.

His new job, Mr. Escher explained, could have conflict-of-interest implications and, what is equally important, the appearance of conflict of interest.

"In my old job, I wasn't making individual judgments on individual projects," he said. "Now, I will be deciding things like 'should we give them seed money?' and there could be conflicts."

Also, there are implications under the Federal Hatch Act which states that office-holders cannot have Federally-funded jobs.

Under the law, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley will name a successor to fill Mr. Escher's seat until the end of the year. Mr. Escher is a Democrat and Democrats control Council, 4-2.

The municipal committee of the Democrats will meet March 20, and probably will pick a successor at that time.

"We recognize our responsibility to provide leadership in identifying a qualified person to fill this vacancy," said Council President Nelson van den Borch. "It is in the best interests of the community that this vacancy be filled promptly."

Whether Mr. Escher nor Mrs. van den Blink will be tapped for the post. Both are considering running for the Borough's two seats this fall.

"It's extremely exciting to be at the heart of the action," Mr. Escher said this week of his two years on Council. "You felt you could make a couple of inches' progress in the right direction, although it's very demanding you could spend eight hours a day."

"I'm disappointed that the housing element of the

Flats for Homes on Constitution Hill Rejected by Planning Board Decision

Perry Morgan's Constitution Hill development suffered at least a temporary setback Monday night when the Planning Board overturned its own ZARC sub-committee and decided Mr. Morgan should not be allowed to build flats into his proposed new houses.

Definitive action must be taken by Township Committee, whose flat ordinance amendment was being considered by the Planning Board. It's on Committee's agenda for this Wednesday night.

Committee can either revive an old, tabled ordinance prohibiting flats, or start all over again with a new one. The version approved by the Planning Board limits flat applications to the actual owner of a house.

It was housing night at the Planning Board. Chairman Margen Penick even offered the startling piece of news that the housing element of the Master Plan is "more or less ready" for presentation.

Earlier, the Board had sent to ZARC (Zoning Amendment Recommendation Committee) the request of Design Interface for a zoning change in the Borough.

Design Interface, a J. Robert Hillier offshoot, wants to erect 12 townhouses on the George Bush property, corner of Nassau and Markham.

The 1.2 acres - about 50,000 square feet - is partly in the R-2 residential zone, and partly in R-3 (for some reason which has Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley shaking his head in puzzlement.)

Mr. Hillier, who wants the property to be all in R-3, said he plans a mini-park to go alongside the 12 townhouses. The houses will be similar, he said, to those he is building on Moore Street, but will be wider and not so tall. After he wends his way through Planning Board and Borough Council - which must make the change - he hopes to start building the end of this summer.

Later in the agenda, the Planning

Board heard once again from Nassau Capital Associates which has a 36-lot parcel at Stuart Road and Cherry Hill.

NCA has a storm-detention basin drainage problem, exacerbated by the fact that basins are not in a cluster development, with open space maintained by owners, but in private back-yards. The corporation would like the Township to maintain them, but the Township isn't happy about such an assignment.

The matter was channeled to the Township Flood Control Committee, with the hope of a decision before next Tuesday's regular Planning Board meeting.

In the flat ordinance matter, ZARC had voted, 3-2, to prohibit flats in new construction, with a cut-off date which would have allowed Constitution Hill to go ahead.

Township Mayor Josie Hall and Jerome Rose had voted "no." Dr. Rose told the Board Monday night that allowing Constitution Hill to build flats smacked of "spot zoning," increased the density and was a kind of special treatment. Also, he said, the housing element of the Master Plan, so far as it has gone, specifies clearly that developers can only have the bonus of increased densities if they provide subsidies for lower-cost housing.

"It's not spot-zoning," replied Hugo Hoogenboom, ZARC member who had voted in favor of Constitution Hill, "because it doesn't create a special district. It doesn't result in any more density than the present ordinance allows, and no developer has come to the board asking for special treatment."

James Britt, attorney for Mr. Morgan, said there was no need for subsidized housing since the density wasn't being increased beyond today's ordinance.

At the heart of the question is a question: does the Township's six-year-old flat ordinance allow flats in new houses or not?

"What's before you, doesn't clarify the relationship between this development and the ordinance," said board counsel Allan Porter gloomily.

If you interpret the Township's flat ordinance as allowing flats to be incorporated into new houses, then Mr. Morgan's proposal would be a "permitted use," Mr. Porter said. If you interpret it as NOT allowing flats in new houses, it looks as though you were giving Mr. Morgan special treatment.

"It's unfair to penalize an applicant for ambiguity in an ordinance he didn't write," observed Planning Board member Douglas Kelbaugh.

Another problem is that Mr. Morgan, whose property Constitution Hill is, has been on the Environmental Design Review board for many years and has indeed served as its chairman.

"This could mean public misunderstanding," Dr. Rose protested. "We have told other developers to hold off, pending completion of the Master Plan. We shouldn't seem to be giving special treatment to any developer."

"In the years the flat ordinance has existed in the Township, this has never come up," said ZARC co-chairman William H. Walker. "And permits have been given for 35 flats. In existing houses or new? We don't know."

"How can we hold people up this long!" exclaimed Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley. "I just sit here, and hear all this business about a housing Master Plan, and we have 12 months of work ahead!"

"I'm aware of the need for flats," replied Elizabeth Hutter, "but I'm more concerned about precedent. I'd like to tell Mr. Morgan he can build part of the development now, 'as of right.' Then, since his parcel would probably be designated high-density, come back after the Master Plan is done."

Master Plan wasn't done years ago" (Mr. Escher served for a few months on the Planning Board).

"I think this Planning Board is less pro-housing, and that's not a criticism of any individual, it's just an unfortunate occurrence. I had a scheme for re-organizing the Planning Board but it got nowhere. You could call it my lead halloo.

"As for my accomplishments in two short years, "I'd like to point to no increase in local purpose taxes, the purchase of Quarry Park, continuation of rent control, County funding of the Loop Bus, a cautious approach on the DNA issue and the injection of a good sense of humor on Borough Council "

Flats Rejected

"I thought work had largely been completed on the housing plan," said Karl Light, "I thought we had a consensus."

It was then that Margen Penick said, almost off-handedly, "It's more or less ready for presentation."

"I don't hold out much hope for housing in Princeton in the next five or ten years," commented Martin P. Lombardo, "It used to be just low and middle income people, now the lack crosses all income lines."

"The burden of density must be shared," he continued, "When density in some parts of town is concerned, we pull back and want a thorough housing study, but at some point, we must face this density question. We must stop being obstructionist."

When the vote came on the ZARC recommendation to let Mr. Morgan build his flats, Mr. Hoogenboom, Mr. Walker, Mr. Lombardo, Mr. Kelbaugh and Mayor Cawley voted "yes." They were voted down by eight "no" votes. Mrs. Penick, who is a Constitution Hill neighbor, abstained.

Then board members switched sides, and voted on whether to recommend an ordinance limiting flat applications to owners. In that vote, Ralph Vierno, Wendy Benchley, Mayor Hall, Dr. Rose, Mr. Light, Ralph Phillips, Hans K. Sander, Mrs. Hutter and Mr. Hoogenboom voted "yes." Mayor Cawley, Mr. Lombardo, Mr. Kelbaugh and Mr. Walker were out-voted.

"What we wanted to do, was to forestall flats in developments," Mr. Hoogenboom said, "but I don't want to see the change applied ex post facto," and Mr. Walker said he agreed.

NUTRITION WEEK SET
At Medical Center. The dietary department of Princeton Medical Center will observe National Nutrition Week, March 5-12. The sixth annual nutrition week, sponsored by the American Dietetic Association, has chosen as this year's theme, "Eat Your Way to Good Health."

Mrs. Jessie Ebishbach, A.D.A., assistant director of dietary, described nutrition week as "a time to reevaluate our present eating habits and become more aware of the benefits of good nutrition."

PIKE IS PRESIDENT
Wallack Vice-President. By a 5-4 vote, Winthrop Pike nosed out Joan Doig for the presidency of the school board Tuesday night at the annual reorganization meeting.
Robin Wallack won the vice-presidency over Gail Firestone by 5-3, Rosalind Frisch abstaining. Mrs. Frisch had nominated Joseph Moore, who declined.
Mr. Pike, who has served 11 years with four superintendents, warned that low state-wide turnouts for the budget vote may mean the public sees local control of schools as eroding away. He told board and audience he is unhappy with this trend.
Voting for Mr. Pike were Firestone, Frisch, Madden, Moore and Pike. Voting for Mrs. Wallack were Meyerhofer, Fox, Moore, Doig and Wallack.
The board agenda included a report on the high school curriculum guide for 1978-79 presented by Principal George Petrillo.

In the new Curriculum Guide for the high school, students are offered about 175 courses -- approximately the same as this year. The number may dwindle, Mr. Petrillo observed, because courses are dropped if they don't attract enough students.
New courses are a one-year biology course in Genetics and Environmental Studies, in which laboratory studies will include investigation of chromosomes using bacteria, drosophila and human population. Past, current and possible future environmental crises will be discussed to develop "ecological awareness" in the student, according to the guide.

Another new science course, Industrial Internship in Science, will give the student practical experience in a commercial laboratory, with the student's work monitored and co-ordinated by the high school's science staff and the commercial lab director.
One-semester courses in Consumer Economics and Geography are also new to the curriculum, and so is a one-semester course in Acting and Directing. The Fundamentals of Art, Print-Making and the History of Jazz are all new.

In the Learning Community, students will have a new Seminar in Comparative Civilization.

Some courses dropped for lack of interest in past years, are being re-instated and given a second chance.
"They are good enough to try again," Mr. Petrillo said.
In Business Education, Computer Programming I and Advanced Computer Programming are back. So is the Advanced Placement History of Art, Music Appreciation and Crafts. In a new Social Studies Research and Field Project, juniors and seniors may design and carry out their own projects, or be assigned one. Assignments may be with the Medical Center at Princeton, the Chamber of Commerce, the Princeton University Art Museum, Historical Society, and so on.

WANT PARKING GARAGE?
To Ask Public Comment. In mid-March, at a date to be announced, Borough Council will invite the public to Borough Hall to comment on the proposed 800-car parking garage on the public library lot.
Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week that he and Council want public reaction and some ideas and suggestions before the design team "gets to the end of the road."

The choice of a team has narrowed to seven groups, the mayor said. Interviews will be held shortly. This Thursday, at Council's 8 p.m. agenda session, hearing will be held on the bond ordinance for financing the design team for the garage.
Also this Thursday, Council will hear a report from Palmer Square, Inc. on the corporation's proposed expansion of the Square. The agenda also includes Planning Board approval of the bike path due to run along the east side of Elm Road, and the request of Design Interface for conversion of the Busb property on Nassau and Markham to an R-3 zone designation. Only part of the property is now in that zone.

HOW WIDE A CULVERT?
On Snowden Lane, Borough and Township are scheduled to meet in the middle of the bridge, so to speak, to decide the dimensions of a new Snowden Lane culvert that affects residents in both municipalities.
A culvert 15 feet wide by six feet tall would just contain the flow in a so-called hundred-year storm, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley reported this week, quoting Borough engineer George Olexa. This leaves the culvert brimful, with no margin, the mayor said.

A 20-foot-wide culvert, on the other hand, could contain more water at lower levels, and would mean a crest one foot below the top Backwaters, also, would be one foot lower for upstream -- i.e., Borough -- residents.

According to Mr. Olexa, the mayor continued, there would be an "infinitesimal" rise in downstream -- i.e., Township -- waters. The "very slight" damming effect with the present culvert, would be slightly increased.

The Borough would prefer the extra safety factor of the 20-foot culvert, the mayor said, adding that he will confer on the problem with Township Committee member David Blair. In the past, Township residents have expressed alarm over the

A $300 Act of Courtesy
It was, remarked Chief Michael Carnevale, "a unique way of stealing a coat."
He reported that around 2:30 Sunday morning, a man in a Blair Hall entry on the University campus called upstairs to a student on the second floor, asking her to drop his coat which was hanging on a stairway post near her. She obliged.
Standing a few feet away was the owner. "Why did you drop my coat?" he asked.
When she told him what had happened, he ran down the steps after the thief but was unable to catch him. Gone was his $300 lambskin coat.

flooding potential of a 20-foot wide culvert.
"We've had a number of hundred-year storms recently," the mayor observed.

EVENING BUS STARTS
For Safety on Campus. Princeton University has inaugurated a shuttle bus service for students between the hours of 6 and midnight. The service is operated by the Security Department in response to recent assaults on campus and a rising number of requests for after-dark transportation.
Bearing the sign "Security Shuttle," a green nine-passenger van driven by a student security aide picks up passengers approximately every half hour at points along two circuits on and near the campus. The eastern route includes Firestone Library, Frick Laboratory, the Engineering Quadrangle, Jadwin Gymnasium and Prospect Street.

The western circuit runs down University Place, then to the Graduate College, Princeton Inn College and the Lawrence Apartments. Both routes begin and end at Stanhope Hall.
Jerrold L. Witsil, director of security, said the decision to begin the shuttle was made after the number of requests for after-dark transportation increased from a few calls per hour to as many as 15 to 20. The security office had recently mailed a letter to all undergraduates urging them to take precautionary safety measures against assaults.
"All of our vehicles were being used for transport," Mr. Witsil said, with the result that manpower was drawn from other areas of security.

The shuttle line stops chosen were those most frequently requested by students using proctor transportation, Mr. Witsil said. Although the cost has not been estimated, the funds are expected to come from the budgets of the security department and the provost's office. The shuttle is not officially limited to female students and it is hoped that students will use the service for safety reasons and not for convenience.

Wine Talk
by Archie Browne
BORDEAUX WINES -- THE GREAT ONES

Out of Bordeaux, in southwestern France, come some of the world's greatest wines. Bordeaux produces a wide variety of wines, both red and white, and dry and sweet. Besides the "great" wines such as Chateau Latite - Rothschild, Chateau Margaux, Chateau Petrus etc. Bordeaux also produces outstanding regional wines and thousands of delightful Petit Chateau wines of fine quality well within your budget. The principal regions of Bordeaux are Medoc, Graves, Sauternes, Saint Emilion, Pomerol, and Entre-Deux-Mers (they are like U.S. counties).

Medoc, where one finds many world famous Chateaux, divides into Saint-Estephe, Saint-Julien, Margaux, Poulillac, Moulis and Listic. These are like U.S. Townships. Each produces red wines that differ from its neighbors. Wine from the flat soil of Medoc is elegant, and is known for its bouquet and rich ruby color. Saint Emilion and Pomerol produce full-bodied wines with strong bouquets. The gravelly district of Graves produces both full-bodied reds, and fragrant, dry whites. Entre-Deux-Mers has an abundance of light dry whites. From Barsac and Sauternes come the naturally sweet and luscious white wines. So, whether you choose a red wine from Medoc, Graves, Saint Emilion, Pomerol or a white wine from Graves, Sauternes or Entre-Deux-Mers you are sure to please your palate.

ABOUT

LIFE SPAN OF A TREE INCREASED BY CARE

with Sam deTuro

As man has increased his life span over the years with a better diet, proper living conditions and modern medicine, trees, too, are able to live longer with proper attentive care. A tree is a living organism which grows older but will live to a ripe old age if it is correctly nourished, periodically pruned and kept free of insect and fungus attack.

Some Maples are rather short-lived (50-60 years), but a Sugar Maple will span a century in its normal lifetime. Some Sugars have been known to live to be 500 years old. Oaks are even harder. Records show that some Oaks have lived to be 1,000 years of age.

The Tulip tree reaches full stature and growth at 200 years. Eastern White Pines will grow for more than 200 years, the White Fir for 300 years, and the Native White Spruce to 300 years.

Under man-made conditions, on lawns and in cities, trees have a difficult time to fulfill their allotted years. That is why home owners should give proper care to their trees, Mr. deTuro says. A tree not only beautifies the land, but also enhances the value of property.

AWARDS MADE TO 4

At University Alumni Lunch, Henry R. Labouisse, Princeton Class of 1926, executive director of the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), was awarded Princeton University's most distinguished alumni award, the Woodrow Wilson Prize. The presentation was made at a lunch in Jadwin Gym last Saturday before some 1,000 alumni and guests attending the 64th annual midwinter meeting of the Alumni Association.

Dr. Frederick Seitz, president of The Rockefeller University and former president of the National Academy of Sciences, received the University's James Madison Medal given to alumni of the Graduate School who have distinguished themselves in their profession, have advanced the cause of graduate education or have achieved a record of outstanding public service.

The M. Taylor Pyne Prize, the highest general distinction conferred on an undergraduate, was awarded to two Princeton seniors, Eric S. Lander of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Nancy J. Newman of Melville, N.Y. Mr. Lander, a mathematics major and a writer, will study at Oxford University next year as a Rhodes Scholar. Miss Newman is an art and archaeology major who has also completed premedical course requirements.

During the lunch, some 225 students gathered outside Jadwin Gym to protest the University's refusal to join a boycott of the J.P. Stevens Co.

Marching Orders

Welcome, March, just Don't bring snow.
Or April first, kid,
Out you go!

As February was preparing to depart, the Man looked (again) to the Gulf of Mexico and said snow was on the way for Wednesday, March 1. It would, he estimated, be a light fall, but he said that's how the month would begin.

February followed that 15-inch day (the 7th) with a steady flow of sunshine but without even the normal amount of warmth. The mean temperature for the 28 days was about 150 degrees below normal, and that's why much of the winter's snowfall is still parked around us.

Nothing at all mild is in sight through the weekend. Partly sunny skies are expected into Friday, with snow or possibly rain, likely this weekend.

PARKED CARS TARGET OF Thieves.

All four tires and wheels were removed last week from a car parked in a lot near Magic Apartments off Faculty Road. The car had been jacked up and the lug nuts left behind at each wheel. The owner, a Magic resident, told police nothing else was touched but the four wheels were valued at $305.77. Ptl David Wilbur investigated.

A Dover resident, visiting a friend on Mountain Avenue, told police of losing a pair of skis valued at $100 which she had left inside her unlocked car. Her car had been parked on Mountain Avenue between 9 p.m. and 9 the following morning.

The glove compartment of a car of a Cedar Lane resident was forced open and ransacked last week while it was parked overnight on Sycamore Lane near Cedar Lane. Nothing was taken, however. Police report the car was unlocked.

Earlier, an Adams Drive resident reported the theft of a brown brief case from her car, which had been parked, unlocked, on Adams Drive.

The brief case contained personal papers, a change purse with a small amount of change, keys, and credit cards. Valued at $20, it was found later by a jogger and returned to its owner. The contents were missing.

The victim told police that her car had also been entered two weeks ago while it was parked in front of her house.

STUDENT ASSAULTED

On Westminister Campus, a 20-year-old student was assaulted Monday night as she walked on the Westminister Choir College campus.

Police said that the victim was approached from behind by a man who told her, "Don't move! Don't turn around!" Her assailant then choked her before running off toward Princeton High School. She did not require medical aid, police said.

The victim was interviewed in the student center by Ptl David Alston and Ptl Joseph Wilhelm. She described her assailant as 5-9, 190 to 200 pounds, wearing dark trousers and a red plaid shirt. He had a short afro.

The incident took place around 10. Just previously, Chief Michael Carnevale and Lt. Theodore Lewis had participated in a rape seminar held on the college campus that evening.

Sexual Assault. Police also report a sexual assault involving a New York woman as she was walking late last Wednesday evening on Park Place.

A man, police said, grabbed her from behind, molested her, and then fled toward Moore Street. He was described as short, 5-7, to 5-8, clean cut with short hair and wearing a royal blue ski jacket. Det. Timothy Huizing and Ptl Gerald Patterson are continuing the investigation.

Flasher Apprehended. A Flemington resident has been charged with indecent exposure by Det. Huizing after he allegedly exposed himself last week to a woman in Firestone Library on the university campus.

The suspect, identified as George A. Burn, 32, was apprehended by members of the university's security department and held until Borough police arrived. Sgt. Thomas Procaccio and Det. Huizing continued the investigation.

THREE TIRES STOLEN

From Van at Turney Motors. Three tires and wheels valued at $270 were removed last week from a 1978 Dodge van parked at Turney Motors on Nassau Street.

In other thefts, a $75 clock radio was taken from an office in Frick Lab on the university campus (no forced entry) and a Nassau Inn employee lost $75 when someone broke the hasp on his locker in an employees' locker room.

A Township resident last week reported the theft of a cord of wood valued at $30 from his yard on Morgan Place.

Police report the victim heard noises around 3 in the afternoon but did not know where they were coming from. The wood pile was not visible from the house, police added.

A man, police said, grabbed her from behind, molested her, and then fled toward Moore Street. He was described as short, 5-7, to 5-8, clean cut with short hair and wearing a royal blue ski jacket. Det. Timothy Huizing and Ptl. Gerald Patterson are continuing the investigation.

Flasher Apprehended. A Flemington resident has been charged with indecent exposure by Det. Huizing after he allegedly exposed himself last week to a woman in Firestone Library on the university campus.

The suspect, identified as George A. Burn, 32, was apprehended by members of the university's security department and held until Borough police arrived. Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and Det. Huizing continued the investigation.

THREE TIRES STOLEN

From Van at Turney Motors. Three tires and wheels valued at $270 were removed last week from a 1978 Dodge van parked at Turney Motors on Nassau Street.

In other thefts, a $75 clock radio was taken from an office in Frick Lab on the university campus (no forced entry) and a Nassau Inn employee lost $75 when someone broke the hasp on his locker in an employees' locker room.

A Township resident last week reported the theft of a cord of wood valued at $30 from his yard on Morgan Place.

Police report the victim heard noises around 3 in the afternoon but did not know where they were coming from. The wood pile was not visible from the house, police added.

RUG EXPERT TO SPEAK

At Antiques Show, Sarah B Sherrill, associate editor of the magazine Antiques, will give an illustrated lecture, "Floor Coverings in America - 17th to Mid-19th Centuries," Friday, March 17 at 11. Her talk will be part of the three day Princeton Antiques Show at Princeton Day School, sponsored by the Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey to benefit its May Margaret Fine Scholarship Fund

Miss Sherrill will illustrate her talk with color slides of period rooms, paintings and floor coverings. She has studied decorative and fine arts in Paris, at Columbia University and at the Metropolitan Museum of Art

As a scholar in the field of Oriental rugs and carpets, Miss Sherrill has traveled extensively in the Middle East, primarily in Turkey, India and Iran. Her study has extended to Oriental rugs in European, English and American museums and in private collections. She is president of the New York Rug Society, a member of the Hajji Baba Club of New York, and author of a book on "America and the Oriental Carpet, 17th and 18th Centuries"

The Antiques show will be held March 16 and 17 from noon to 9 and March 18 from 11 to 5. A preview showing and cocktail party will be held on March 15 from 6 to 9, to which the public is invited and admission is $7.50. Daily tickets may be purchased in advance for $2 each by writing to the Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey, 338 The Great Road, or at the door for $2.50

104 TAKE TEST

For Township Patrolman, One-hundred four applicants took the written examination given last week at Princeton High School by the New Jersey State Chiefs of Police Association for two openings for patrolman on the Township force. Among them, said Chief Frederick Porter, were four or five women.

Those who pass the written exam will be notified by the second week of March where and when to take a physical examination - the second step in the process. Those who pass the physical must then undergo a psychological evaluation and oral interviews. "We're moving along as quickly as possible because we are understaffed," Chief Porter said

On Wednesday, March 22 promotional exams within the department will be given for two openings for sergeant and two more for lieutenant. All 18 patrolmen on the force are eligible for the sergeant's exam, "so it should make the competition keen," commented Chief Porter

The present seven sergeants who will vie for the two lieutenant slots are Jack Petrone, Robert Heacock, Anthony Nini, David Potts, Michael Koplner, Norman Servis and Anthony Pinelli

The openings were created by the death of Lt. Michael Last last month and the retirement last fall of Lt. Richard Steiner. The last Township police examination occurred in 1972

CLEANING MAN CHARGED

With Calculator Theft A Trenton man has been charged by Borough police with the theft of a $200 calculator from a Nassau Street office

Police, responding to a call from a secretary Thursday morning, were told that the only person in the office prior to discovering the theft had been a cleaning man. His name was given to the police

Sixteen minutes later, the suspect's pickup truck was stopped near the Springdale golf course. After a police search uncovered the calculator behind the front seat, the driver, Lawrence Miller, 23, of Trenton was arrested and charged

Home Entered, A key was used to enter a home in the John Street-Witherspoon Street area last week. Taken, police said, were a $200 stereo, a $200 amplifier, a $100 portable television set and six records valued at $70

In the Township, a garage door was pried open to enter a Rosedale Road home Thursday between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m.

The intruder left behind a pack of cigarettes in the kitchen after eating a box of cookies, a loaf of bread and drinking a can of orange juice. Nothing else appears to have been disturbed, police said.

THREE CARS STOPPED

Drivers Are Charged. Borough police stopped three cars last week in separate incidents which resulted in three arrests

George Lassiter, 19, of Trenton, was stopped at 4:27 Saturday morning on Harrison Street by Ptl Randy Sutton and Ptl Robert Mucciarelli, who observed Lassiter driving in an erratic manner. He was charged with drunken driving and possession of marijuana

After Lassiter was unable to produce a registration for the car, police said that a subsequent investigation revealed that it had been stolen in Trenton. He was also charged with larceny of an auto

Thursday morning at 1:57, the same two officers stopped a car on Washington Road near Prospect that was being driven in an erratic manner. While the officers were conducting their investigation, they detected an odor of marijuana

They charged the driver, Paul J. Darringer, 19, of Trenton with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana. He was also issued summonses for speeding and failure to keep right. Darringer is scheduled to appear in Borough court next Wednesday

The previous morning at 2:03, Ptl Sutton and Ptl William Fitch, operating the Speed Gun on Nassau Street, stopped a car for speeding

During their questioning, the officers noticed a nunchuka protruding under the driver's seat

A nunchuka, explained Chief Michael Carnevale, is a pair of short wooden sticks connected by a chain. It is used by karate practitioners and is considered a lethal weapon. It has, reported Chief Carnevale, been issued by some police departments

Police also uncovered a can of chemical irritant in the car. Since both are considered illegal weapons under the

APPLICANTS SOUGHT

By League Nursery School. Applications are now being accepted by the University League Nursery School, 171 Brnadmead, for the 1978-79 school year. Admission is open to both University and community families, and scholarship help is available.

Directed by Mrs. Mary Longman of Princeton, the school offers classes for three to five year old children, meeting four or five mornings per week from 8:45 to 11:30. Each class of 16 to 18 children is staffed by a master teacher, an assistant teacher and a "helping parent," and has a session once a week with a visiting music teacher. The school is organized on a cooperative basis, and parents have the opportunity to contribute their talents both in the classroom and in the maintenance and running of the school.

If interest is sufficient, an extended day program, which does not use cooperating parents, will be offered from 11:30 to 1. Children will bring their own lunches and will have after-lunch activities. Three, four and five day options are available.

Parents are welcome to visit during the school day to observe classroom activities, and an open house for parents and children will be scheduled in April. To arrange a visit, or for more information on the remaining openings, call Cathy Dalhed, 924-6495.

SHELTER AVAILABLE For Battered Women.

Womanspace, Inc., a shelter for battered women and their children, has opened in Trenton to provide 24-hour, seven-day-a-week services to Mercer County women who are victims of household violence.

Clients eligible for the services of Womanspace are women who have been physically and emotionally abused, or who have been threatened with physical violence, by their husbands or boyfriends. Along with providing refuge for battered women and their children, Womanspace will also offer family counseling; legal, financial and employment referrals; social service referrals for the abuser; and other services.

Womanspace has received the endorsement and direct support of the Mercer County Commission on the Status of Women, along with the support of the Mercer County Freeholders as well as widespread support from civic, church and women's organizations.

Full-time Womanspace staff includes Judith Jordan, director; Susan Appel, counseling supervisor; Clara Berry, evening coordinator; Adrienne Fessler, evening coordinator; Nancy Johnson, child development coordinator; and Ivy McLendon, community advocate. Women who need the services of Womanspace may call the staff at 394-9000.

FOLK ART IS TOPIC

Of Historical Society Talk. Photographer - artist Nina Howell Starr will speak on "Roadside Folk Art, 1954 to Today," Tuesday, March 7, at 10 at the Unitarian Church. Her talk is part of a four-session mini-course on American Primitive Arts sponsored by the Historical Society and open to the public. Coffee will be served before the talk, beginning at 9:30.

Mrs. Starr points out that American folk art was "considered dead" when she began to document it in 1954. "Curiously, photography was cited as the chief factor in its demise," she explains. "It was agreed that folk art ended as mechanization rushed across the continent."

Mrs. Starr hopes to correct another mistaken notion about folk art -- that it is strictly a rural phenomenon. "More than half the work in my collection was found in cities and in use," she says.

Mrs. Starr's work has been displayed at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Newark Museum, the Museum of International Folk Art in Santa Fe, and the Museum of American Folk Art in New York.

TUITION HOLDS STEADY At Lawrenceville School. The Board of Trustees of The Lawrenceville School has voted to hold tuition at its present level for the third consecutive year. The cost for the 1978-79 academic year will remain at $5,200 for boarding students and $3,200 for day students.

8 Hill's Market, Burned out in Benson Building Fire of 1977, Plans to Return to Princeton Scene on State Road Next May

Hill's Market is going to re-open. "Back in December," relates Paul Hill, with a glint in his eye, "I read a report in TOWN TOPICS about the year 1977, and it said that with the Benson Building fire, Hill's Market left the Princeton scene forever."
"Well! That made me feel I HAD to do something!" And he did.

HILL FAMILY TO RE-OPEN MARKET: Destroyed by the fire that swept the Benson Building 13 months ago, Hill's Market will rise again. Not on the ashes of the old, but in a new building at 759 State Road. Here, in front of their new home, are Paul Hill, his wife, June, and their son, Mark. The three Hills hope to open their new market in May.

Paul Hill is huying the Philip Golden building at 759 State Road, two buildings north of the Mary Watts Store. If all goes well, he hopes to open the door to business in May.

It will be the same, but different. In the market, Mr. Hill, his wife, June, and their son, Mark, will sell only meat and produce and that's all -- no groceries, as before.

They will add a delicatessen, which they didn't have before. If they can obtain the necessary conditional use variance from the Township Zoning Board, they will have a 40-seat restaurant, serving breakfast and lunch.

"The Best We Can Buy." Home deliveries will be made twice a week -- Tuesdays and Fridays -- instead of daily, as in the Witherspoon Street market. Customers can call up the deli, place an order, and pick it up.

"But no fast food," Mr. Hill emphasizes. "Only home-made soups, sandwiches, salads -- the best things we can buy."

If plans for the restaurant can be carried out, the Hills plan to hire former Princeton resident Chris Grace as cook. He has had several years' experience in restaurants here and four or five in the Boston area.

The Golden building, a flat-topped two-story brick structure, is on two levels because the property slopes steeply from State Road toward a thin woods at the rear. Mr. Hill says there are 50 parking spaces in the rear.

Customers for meat and produce will park in the rear and enter at ground level. This is one meat-market with, of all things, a rug on the floor, and wood panelling on the walls. Both are remnants of the building's former status, when it was used for offices, and they will be left -- for the time being, anyway.

Partitioning Planned. If you wish, you may go up an outside stairway to the front door entrance to the deli and restaurant. Partitioning will separate deli and restaurant, keeping the restaurant area quiet.

"We have a bit more space than we did in the Benson Building," Mr. Hill said. "Two offices downstairs are now rented, but we may eventually take over the entire ground floor."

A small building on the property is also rented to office space.

It was in 1909 that Paul Hill's grandfather took over the business on a mortgage, in the same Witherspoon Street location that was burned to the ground in January of 1977. Paul's father, Homer M. Hill, ran the store until 1962, when Paul became manager. He assumed formal ownership in 1963.

"We've always specialized in meat, poultry, fresh-killed, rather than frozen. We've always bought whatever looks best, whether 'prime' or 'choice.' We've always had our own bacon, sliced from slabs, and we hope to get bacon and hams that have no preservatives."

June Hill will contribute her own cole slaw, her own banana bread, and "certain specialties we think will go over very well."

Since the Benson Building fire, Paul Hill has been assistant manager in the food purchasing offices of Princeton University.

"We looked for property, after the fire," he says, "so many people were interested in us, hoping we'd come back," and Mrs. Hill remembers all the people she met on the street who would greet her eagerly, hoping for news of a come-back.

"We're still up in the air about a name," Paul Hill said the other day. "Hill's Market" isn't quite right because we'll have only meat, produce and the deli. "The Phoenix?" Yes, we thought of that, but it seemed rather obvious. "Emporium?" But we're not a general store."

No matter what the final choice is, for customers old and new, it will always be "Hill's."

Present budget projections indicate that the actual cost of educating a Lawrenceville student will be about $2,400 higher than the tuition. Endowment and gift income will underwrite each student's education in the amount of $2,400.

Peter Savidge

NAMED DIRECTOR of Hun Summer School. Peter Savidge, dean of students at The Hun School, has been named director of the 1978 summer session. A graduate of The Hun School in the class of 1962, Mr. Savidge has been a member of the faculty since 1971.

Mr. Savidge received his bachelor of arts degree from Rutgers University, where he was captain of the football team, co-captain of lacrosse, and a three-year All-American in lacrosse. He received a master's degree in guidance and counseling from Rider College.

FORUM ON HOUSING SET

By PCDO. The public is invited to the monthly meeting of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization on Monday at 8 at the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road. The meeting will focus on the issue of "Low and Moderate Income Housing in Princeton -- Where Are We Now?"

Speakers will include Martha Lamar, administrator of the Housing Demonstration

Program of the New Jersey State Department of Community Affairs; Leo Laaksonen, director, Mercer County Planning Division; James Floyd, former mayor of Princeton Township; Margaret Broadwater, former Township committeewoman and member of the Princeton Regional Planning Board, and representatives of Princeton Community Village and the Witherspoon-Jackson Corporation.

Barbara Sigmund, Mercer County Freeholder, organized this program so that Princeton residents can resolve this issue intelligently, realistically and compassionately, rather than have solutions forced on them by the courts or another level of government.

Refreshments will be served, and all are welcome.

Russell W. Annich Jr.

OFFICERS ELECTED
At YMCA. Russell W. Annich Jr., of 38 Longview Drive has been elected president of the board of directors of the YMCA.

Mr. Annich is a partner in the law firm of Mason, Griffin & Pierson. He also serves as president of the Princeton Bar Association, trustee and member of the executive committee of the Association for Advancement of Mentally Handicapped and as chairman of the Attorney's solicitation drive for the United Fund - Red Cross campaign.

Mr. Annich has been active in the YMCA for several years, serving as vice president, member of the board of directors, member of the board of governors of the Dean Mathey Health Center, and member of the YM-YWCA joint management committee. As president, he succeeds William J. Dettmar, who was recently honored by the board of directors for his many years of leadership and service to the YMCA.

James E. Ward was re-elected secretary of the YMCA. Mr. Ward is a Deputy Attorney General of the State of New Jersey, associated with the Corruption Control Bureau in the Division of Criminal Justice. Samuel S. Mather III, vice president of the West Windsor State Bank, has been selected to serve as Treasurer. Arthur Abrahams, Charles Lynch, Robert P. Popino, and the Rev. Charles B. Weiser have been elected vice presidents of the Association.

EXHIBIT AT FIRESTONE

On Black History. Black historian Carter G. Woodson and the Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History, which he founded in 1915, are featured in an exhibition in Princeton University's Firestone Library marking Afro-American History Month.

Louise G. Anderson, curator of the Afro-American Studies Collection, who arranged the exhibition, points out that the association, which was known as the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History until 1972, began the annual celebration of black history week in 1926. More recently, she notes, it was expanded to a month.

Included in the exhibition is a copy of the kit designed for teachers, which the association publishes each year. This year's theme is "Roots, Achievements and Projections." The kit contains booklets on black scientists and inventors; original portraits of black artists, including dramatists, singers, writers and producers; and African folktales.

In addition to founding the association, Woodson organized Associated Publishers in 1921 to print books about blacks and promote the knowledge of the history of black people. The exhibition will remain in the School juniors and their display area just outside of the reference room through March 15.

COLLEGE NIGHT SET
For PHS Juniors. T. Leslie MacMitchell, of the Middle States Office of the College Entrance Examination Board, will talk to Princeton High students and counsellors will gather in groups to continue discussing the topics. "Junior Night" is sponsored by the high school Guidance Department. The program follows small group meetings that have been scheduled by Ethel Thomas, Junior counsellor, during free periods in the school day.

Town Topics, Princeton, N.J., Wednesday, March 1, 1978 • 10

THIRTY YEARS AGO Princeton had leather-lunged newsboys roaming the streets, shouting the headlines from late editions of daily papers, problems in providing adequate classroom space for the town would have been a constantly increasing number of children. Princeton Township announced it would be necessary to spend some $700,000 on additions to its school on Witherspoon Street (known then simply as "the township school," not as "Valley Road School," because it was the municipality's only school. Across the line, in the Borough, classroom space on Nassau Street, Quarry Street and Moore Street was adequate, but long-range planning indicated the need -- within a period of five years -- for at least one more school. The question: did it make sense for each school district to spend its taxpayers' money building separately, when "two might live as cheap as one"?

The answer: for many years, Princetonians felt that integration was predecessor) hantenders, achieved in relatively short order, but separate schools (Littlebrook, Riverside, Community Park, Johnson Park, all in the Township, John Witherspoon in the Borough) were built as they were needed. School merger was not effected by referendum until 1966.

Hats in the Ring. It was a presidential year. Names in the news included Harold Stassen, whom a group of Princeton undergraduates hoped to bring to the campus for a rally, and Henry Wallace, the choice of the Princeton Chapter of the Independent Citizens' League. Borough Democrats announced Joseph J. Redding, an incumbent, and Walter L. Coach as their candidates for Council. The Republicans planned to counter with Charles J. Rocknak and Louis C. West. In Princeton Township, where one seat on the three-man committee would become vacant, Albert Salzman said he would seek a new term with opposition from Horatio W. Turner.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO March 5, 1953. TOWN TOPICS' lead story that week told much of what was making news in Princeton, a quarter-century ago. "Headlines of the Week" If

Their program, they declared, would not only assure adequate water for drinking, swimming pools and household use but would prevent the constantly increasing flow of silt clogging Carnegie Lake. A myriad of statistics was assembled in the proposal submitted to the town's two governing bodies and the Stony Brook - Millstone Watersheds Association, and all planning was built around development of the program over a 50-year period. By 2008, Messrs. Riker and Schofield estimated, Princeton's combined population would total 68,500 souls.

Pillars in a Field. A picturesque portico of marble columns in Grecian style was all that remained of Mercer Manor, a large, outmoded residence recently razed on Mercer Road after being purchased by the Institute for Advanced Study ... debate on its future was making news, with the Institute reporting that $25,000 was needed to move and erect it on a site of Princeton Battlefield (where it stands today).

Princeton University released an architect's drawing of its Engineering Quadrangle, scheduled to be built on the corner of William and Olden streets, announced the estimated cost as $8 million, but said it was not in position to determine when -- in the next decade -- the building would be completed. Names in the news 20 years ago: William L. Wilson, elected to another term as president of the Township Board of Education... Otto L. Nelson, Carter Road, and C. McKim Norton, 87 Lafayette Road, appointed by Mayor Wagner of New York to a steering committee which will plan for a three-state system of parks and recreational facilities in the New York metropolitan area... Mayor Raymond S. Male, writing a weekly newspaper column and holding Friday night "open house" and Borough Hall... James S. Carey, a senior vice-president of the Bank of New York, named Princeton's "Man of the Week" upon completion of 13 years as a trustee of Princeton Country Day School, the last five as chairman of the board.

TEN YEARS AGO March 7, 1968. Police in New York City, tipped by an informer, tracked down and caught after a two-block chase Jose Soto, wanted in Princeton as the suspected killer of Kirsti Pfister. A teller at Princeton Bank and Trust Co., she had been shot when Soto approached her window at the bank's Nassau Street office and demanded money. Mrs. Pfister, a resident of Kingston just three days short of her 28th birthday, died instantly from a single bullet that struck her in the heart. Soto fled empty-handed and a 14-state teletype alarm was issued to aid in the apprehension of the Puerto Rican gunman, who had been a husky at both the Nassau and Princeton inns. On March 4, ten years ago, he was arrested after fleeing from a woman's apartment on Columbus Avenue and extradition proceedings were started to bring him to arraignment here and a trial in Trenton.

The Regional Schools were in temporary financial chaos because voters had twice rejected their budget. Under state law, the town's two governing bodies then met to determine what economies should be ordered and what figures for various items were acceptable. Borough Council and Township Committee pared various appropriations by a Tough outside, soft inside.

Mothers, isn't it a comfort to know that there's one sneaker that really watches over your kids' feet? Zips sneakers. The ones your kids have seen on TV. They're tough in all the right places, and soft in all the right places. And they wear well all over. You don't have to worry about fit—because Zips sneakers come in more sizes and widths than any other sneakers. And they're fitted by our children's shoe specialists. Zips Kids love the way they run, corner and jump.

TOP LINES, LOW PRICE.
At Brick Church Appliance. Easy selection, low prices, fast delivery, and reliable service make Brick Church Appliance "One of New Jersey's largest and most respected appliance chains." You'll find an amazing variety of major appliances at the Princeton Shopping Center branch -- 40 models of refrigerators, alone -- all available for immediate delivery at a discounted price. The store's price guarantee states "If you can buy for less anywhere within the next 30 days, we will cheerfully refund the difference."

Art Juris, manager, has been selling appliances for 14 years -- 5½ in Princeton -- so he really knows the best features of every appliance: dishwasher, washer or dryer, gas or electric range, console or portable television and audio equipment. You'll find Art pleasant, organized and happy to talk to you. He enjoys helping customers make the best selection for their needs.

Service in the area for all lines is excellent -- a local call will bring next-day service. All kitchen appliances come in almond, avocado, gold, copper, white. All are energy conscious -- washers save energy with a cold water wash and rinse cycle, dishwashers dry with heat or air only, gas stoves have electronic ignition systems instead of pilot lights, thereby using 25 - 33 percent less gas.

Washers, Speed Queen has a guarantee that lasts twice as long as that for any other washer, and an optional stainless steel tub, more resistant to abrasion than a porcelain tub. Whirlpool has a new service called the FRIENDLY ADVISER: The man with the smile is Art Juris, manager of Brick Church Appliance, who will be happy to explain the special features of each of the washers, dryers, dishwashers, refrigerators, ranges and television sets carried by the store, and help you select the model best for you.

"Whirlpool Cool Line" -- a toll-free number their customers can call for assistance in operating, maintaining and servicing a Whirlpool appliance. Their washer has an extremely large porcelain tub, a "magic clean" filter and a pump guard that keeps the things you leave in your pockets out of the pump.

Hotpoint features a two agitator system -- a small agitator for "hand washing" small loads and a large agitator for full loads. The large agitator fits over the smaller and is easy to remove. The machine has a self-cleaning filter, and gives an extra rinse cycle if needed.

Dishwashers. Hotpoint's under-the-counter dishwasher comes with a color pack of six different front panels in standard colors plus a blank panel you can paint or paper. Kitchen Aid offers the usual colors plus a "black glass" (incite)door, a brushed chrome panel, a stainless steel panel and a "trim kit" with a stainless steel binding in case you want a panel to match your cabinets. A Caloric portable dishwasher has a two-way wash and eight cycles, among them a "sanit-wash" cycle with a heater that boosts water temperature to 150 degrees and a superwash for pots and pans.

Television. Art Juris finds the Princeton area very consumer-minded and stocks many brands of television sets to interest the aware consumer. Brick Church is the area's only dealer authorized to carry the MGA color portable. This set has a very low frequency of repair and a remote control with a muting switch to turn off commercials. A Quasar console with automatic color TV is offered in a variety of cabinets, including early American, Mediterranean, modern or traditional, and is one of the few sets that gives you "in the home service" for one full year.

Refrigerators. The smallest refrigerator, 18 cu. ft., is made by Sanyo, with a wood grained front panel or all in white. It has a mini freezer, door storage for bottles and a temperature control. Students find it ideal for snacks and beverages and it makes a good bar refrigerator for home or office. $98.

The most deluxe refrigerator is Admiral's 22 cu. ft., three door, side-by-side model. The small third door provides easy access to the ice compartment and reduces cold loss. Other features include a wine chiller, automatic door closers, wheels that permit rolling out for cleaning, a meat keeper with its own control and an optional automatic ice-maker.

Ranges. The store has apartment size and regular size ranges, in both gas and electric. Tappan and Caloric have automatic program centers that start the oven or turn it off and optional self-cleaning ovens. Hotpoint's electric range has a self-cleaning automatic oven and a power saver unit that adjusts from four to eight inches to fit the size of the pan used.

Purchase Power: Brick Church is the authorized appliance representative in the area for Purchase Power, a buying service extended to many large corporations, which offers a courtesy discount to their employees. Ask about the plan where you work.

Brick Church Appliance is located in the Princeton Shopping Center, North Harrison Street. Store hours are 10-9, Monday, Thursday, Friday; 10-6 Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday.

CHARM FOR EVERY ROOM

At Rug and Furniture Mart. Shopping is a delightful experience at the Rug and Furniture Mart. It's so easy to find exactly what you want when you are offered such an abundance of beautiful household furnishings. Rugs, furniture, lamps, in marvelous variety, are on display; draperies, curtains, shades can be made to order. You can furnish every room in your house without leaving the store.

You'll find every style of furniture traditional, early American, contemporary, and some oriental and provincial pieces, all superbly designed and crafted by well-known manufacturers. Groups in each style are skillfully arranged in miniature settings, so that you have the feeling of seeing many rooms in a large, eclectically furnished house.

Rugs and rug samples in many colors and designs are attractively arranged to present the whole spectrum at a glance. Leading brands in broadloom, velvets, shags, tweeds, oriental designs, braids -- in synthetics, wools or blends -- are obtainable for wall-to-wall, room size, or area carpeting. Expert installation, guaranteed workmanship and free delivery promise complete satisfaction.

To help you get it all together, the Mart offers an interior design service with talented decorator, Sylvia Nini. She is calm, gracious and understanding. Her policy is "to give the most service for the least amount of money," so she plans decorating schemes to include your existing furniture and offers many suggestions for a fresh, new look at very little cost.

Inexpensive and Attractive Suggestions. Instead of new curtains and drapes for a room that has morning sunshine, she may suggest wooden shutters and a screen of plants in hanging baskets. Or if you need a new rug for your bedroom, or an oval shaped rug for your dining room, she may suggest you look for a remnant at the Mart's Remnant Shop, which and is presently enrolled in a business education course in Daytona Beach, Fla. Her fiancé is a graduate of Simsbury, Conn., High School and is presently a senior at Embry-Riddle Aeronautics University in Daytona Beach. A September wedding is planned.

Fiel-Seems. Liada Fiel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fiel Jr. of 50 Hart Avenue, Hopewell, to David E. Seems, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. Seems of 28 Dublin Road, Pennington.

The bride-to-be and her fiancé are both graduates of Hopewell Valley Central High School. Miss Fiel attends Mercer County Community College where she is studying horticulture. She is employed by Allea's Flowers in Hopewell.

Mr. Seems attended Temple University and is employed by Smith & Van Dyke of Pennington. No date has been set for the wedding.

Skorupa-Elliott. Mary L. Skorupa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Skorupa of 24 Lawrence Road, Lawrenceville, to Melvin J. Elliott Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Elliott of Yardville.

Miss Skorupa was graduated from Notre Dame High School and Mercer County Community College. She is a registered nurse at St. Francis Medical Center.

Mr. Elliott, a graduate of Hamilton High School and Mercer County Community College, is employed by Acme Markets in Yardville. They plan to wed November 4 in St. Ana's Catholic Church.

Grazel-Maagum. Terry L. Maagum of San Antonio, Tex., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norvell Mclellan of Pleasanton, Tex., to Ensign Christopher P. Grazel, U.S. Navy, of Kingsville, Tex., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grazel of 140 Brookstone Drive; January 14 in McFall Memorial Chapel, Naval Air Station, Kingsville, Tex., Commander Thomas Moore officiating.

The bride graduated from Pleasanton High School and attended San Antonio College. The groom graduated from Princeton High School, class of 1972 and from the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., in 1976 with a bachelor of science degree. He is now attending advanced jet training school at the Naval Air Station in Kingsville, where the couple will live.

sells just slightly above wholesale cost. This shop, as a service to customers, is stocked with eads of carpet rolls or carpeting in discontinued colors, which can be cut and bound to any shape.

There is no charge for the first 12 hours of Sylvia's time. She will call at your house to determine the kind of use a room receives, and will recommend furniture styles, fabrics, carpets, colors, patterns, to create the setting you wish to achieve.

Romping children, cats and dogs, call for rugged furniture, easy-care carpeting and soil-resistant fabrics. Early American pieces in pine and maple are sturdy and informal, such as the maple trestle table with bench, chairs and matching hutch by Heywood Wakefield; or the charming and nostalgic roll top desk by Broyhill and a hoop-backed Windsor chair by Nichols-Stone, both in pine

For those of you who prefer the gracious formality of traditional furniture, there are many beautiful reproductions. A Queen Anne wing chair, by Marlowe, covered in natural linen, is bright with a crewel design meticulously centered on back and seat, and a separate flower at the end of each arm. A lovely Chippendale secretary by Pennsylvania House is made of solid cherry with careful details and fine brasses

A graceful Sheraton four poster with canopy, from Pennsylvania House, is solid cherry, as are the Queen Anne corner chair by Hickory Chair Co. and the Queen Anne lady's writing desk by Martinsville Novelty Co. A tuxedo sofa by Heeredon in a white fabric with blue birds on blue branches and shadowy oriental figures looks fresh as spring and would blend perfectly with these traditional pieces

For Contemporary Settings: Furniture, by Shuford, for contemporary settings, includes two Parsons sofas with loose back pillows and extra side pillows, one in a beige suede-look fabric has a matching love seat, the other has a small French look navy print and green paisley stripe. A sectional sofa (you can see it in the window) is covered with a striking green print of oriental design. Oak is making a comeback as shown by a contemporary burled oak coffee table and a traditional oak curio corner cupboard. A smoked glass and chrome etagere by Lane and glass and chrome cocktail and end tables by Broyhill are icily elegant.

The Mart has Simmons Hideaheds in both traditional and contemporary designs and a full line of bedding and mattresses. Office furniture and commercial carpets are available for your selection.

The Rug and Furniture Mart is located at the Princeton Shopping Center, North Harrison Street. Store hours are 8 to 5:30, Monday through Saturday; Friday 8 to 9.

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

(The following information was researched and written by members of the Regional Schools PTO Council, and the opinions expressed are not those of TOWN TOPICS.)

EVERYONE who has spent the last few weeks "digging out" realizes just how big the job can be, how would you like to have the entrances, sidewalks and parking lots for seven buildings? Bill Karch's facilities crew did a great job after the first storm, but the follow-up storm with the accompanying drifts overwhelmed the school equipment which was meant for Princeton's more usual winter weather.

A call to Mr. Nini, Township administrator, and Mr. Clausen, Township road supervisor, showed how valuable cooperation can be. Snow clearing equipment and Mr. Jensen, an operator, made short work of the clearing out task enabling school to reopen with minimal discomfort.

WEDNESDAY workshops at JW, part of the Released Time Program, began a twelve session series on Learning Styles. Dr. Russell Jackson, acting director of the Rider Title IV Training Center for Teachers, and Dr. Leo Krzyzkowski, Professor of Urban and Ethnic Studies at Rider, opened the study series last week. The workshops, funded by the Center for Teachers, are being conducted by Dr. Harvey Silver and J. Robert Hanson of Educational Management and Evaluation Consultants, Inc. The focus will be on individual learning styles, the nature of learning objectives, and selected teaching behaviors to accommodate these.

THE PHS FRENCH Club is in its second year of combining the traditional after-school meetings with a touch of culinary experience. The totally French covered dish dinner. This year's group, headed by Emily Dyson and Leila Elmagraby, has enjoyed two evenings of fun and food with additional meals in the planning stage.

The first obstacle is finding a home to fit the lilly-odd students ranging from ninth to twelfth grades and to clear the ovens and burners for hot food, the refrigerator for cold dishes. Hostess Andrea Irbys' mother wasn't perturbed at all during a recent dinner. "They're a great group of people," she noted, "and they do all the work and planning for both gutting ready and cleaning up." M. Poncin, a PHS French teacher and co-sponsor of the club, nodded in agreement.

When the date for an evening meeting has been chosen and announced, a sign-up sheet is posted so the menu can be determined (appetizer, entree, bread, dessert). French Club members choose the dish they'll prepare from either classic or provincial cuisine. This assures a balanced assortment, though last minute substitutions can and do occur. Some contributions are easy for amateurs (a pound of flour and a box of crackers), others are time-consuming in both research and preparation. The last dinner was "split-level", appetizers were served in the rec room while students bearing casseroles arrived. An assortment of cheese, pate, eggs and crackers complimented the conversation and glasses of cola-uncola.

An upstairs buffet was assembled featuring quiche of many types and boeuf bourguignon, missing was coq au vin, a club favorite. French desserts were abundant: chocolate mousse ("someone always brings a mousse"), petit fours, cream puffs, crepes, lemon soufflé, chocolate fondue - and more.

Snatches of French conversation punctuated the predominately English exchange of compliments and recipe sources. "Come for good food - don't worry about your French", was the theme expressed by many. They came, they ate, and they enjoyed every minute.

"OKLAHOMA" has been a long time hit musical and promises to continue captivating SRO audiences, it's the PHS benefit for the "Student-to-Student Grants", Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation. Anyone can be a patron of the arts and scholarship by sending for tickets to PRSF, c/o Mrs. Russell S. Davison, 193 Harrison St., Princeton 08540. Enclose your check at $5.00 per ticket and specify your choice of performances (March 10, 11, 17, 18). The show is rated "G" for generally great! Bring the whole family!

Unfair Prey.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
"Even the sick are not immune." The quotation from TOWN TOPICS of February 22 referring to the theft of a wallet from a patient at Princeton Medical Center touched a nerve.

Anyone with experience of friends and relatives in nursing homes, whether in Princeton or elsewhere, knows their pathetic vulnerability - toilet articles, a single dollar in a wallet, a once independent and successful business man, treasured trinkets, nightgowns and housecoats - all are fair game. No amount of discussion results in an improvement.

In fact, protest may increase the vulnerability of the patient. It's one of the unwritten, unspoken, unspoken hazards of the elderly ill.

Looking for a Used Rolls Royce or a Bentley? Jeff Kramer in Hopewell Can Find It for You

Jeff Kramer always had this thing about cars.

When he was in high school and his classmates were driving Chevys, he was driving MGs and Austin Healeys. In college he worked as a mechanic to help pay his way.

He raced them. As a member of the Sports Car Club of America, he competed at Connecticut's Lime Rock and on courses in Dover, Del and Reading, Pa. "I did pretty well," he recalled.

At the New Hope, Pa. Sports Car and Antique show each summer (he grew up in Huntington Valley) he was a Jaguar judge, having owned 11 of his own. "I love cars; I love sport cars," he said.

The career he chose, however, did not include cars. With a master's degree in audiology from Penn State and another degree in acoustical physics, Jeff practiced for seven years, working with patients with ear problems. But the fascination with cars never diminished. "I was going to do what I wanted to do. That I had only one life."

A Fast Start. That "one day" came about two years ago when a former racing friend asked him to head the sales department of an imported car agency on Route 206 in Princeton. Less than a year later, he had his own car business, patterned after his concept of what a sports car agency should be, and doing remarkably well.

His Hopewell Motor Imports is located in the old Blackwell Chrysler agency building on Broad Street, which also housed the Broad Street garage. He buys, sells and services sports car exclusively, but it isn't your typical sports car business.

There are no salesmen on the floor. No pressure to buy

There is no expensive overhead. "I wanted it run like a country garage," Jeff says.

Ten to 15 years ago he is a 1978 Lotus Esprit. Low slung and stylish, the Lotus looks as if it is going 150 miles an hour standing still. (Mr. Kramer is a new car dealer explained, there were agencies with facilities catering to sports cars. "All are drying up now. Sports cars are taking a back seat to economy and luxury cars."

In and Around Princeton

Although his lot in Hopewell occasionally includes Volvos, Datsuns and Toyotas now and then, Mr. Kramer is at tempting to limit his sales to classical sports cars and specialty cars. In essence, bringing buyer and car together. "We try to have cars others don't have."

A Major Search. Though there are a lot of specialty cars right in the Delaware Valley, according to Mr. Kramer, tracking down rare classics requires a great deal of traveling. His search often takes him to Canada to check out a car or to the midwest to look over an old Rolls Royce.

Since the quickest way to get around is to fly, he is taking lessons. Recently, he was able to kill two birds with one stone. He flew to Atlantic City for a lesson but also to visit the city's classic and antique car center. "There might be a Rolls there," he said. The last two classic cars he purchased were Bentleys.

One he doesn't own but is in his showroom is a 1947 LeMans type Bentley racing car in perfect running order. It has the cycle fenders and hand brake lever outside the door. Only about nine were built, he reports.

Next to it, in sharp contrast for Lotus and TVR, both English sport cars.

The roof of the Lotus is 43 inches from the ground; the hood line of the Bentley is 40 inches. The Esprit will go 136 miles an hour, but so, says Mr.

Kramer, will the Bentley. The price of a Lotus starts around $18,000. A LeMans Bentley is worth $20,000, about twice what it was five years ago.

Hopewell Motor Imports carries a list of customers looking for certain cars. He had just received a call, he said, from a man in Troy, Mich., looking for a particular Rolls who was willing to spend up to $12,000. "If he wants a Rolls, we'll find him a Rolls."

To bring buyer and car together, Kramer uses every source available. One is a monthly publication he subscribes to which lists a substantial percentage of every Rolls and Bentley for sale in the country. Included is the model year, body classification and price.

To the Last Detail. Each car is rated on a scale of 1 to 100, the higher the number the better the car. Considered in the rating are the cosmetics of the car, exterior and interior. The condition of the wood paneling, chrome and leather. Whether it is a right hand or left hand drive. Even if it has an owner's manual or not. "All these things are important," says Kramer.

A few months ago he sold a 1956 Rolls Silver Cloud to Merrill Zinder, a Hopewell resident and owner to the Good Time Charley restaurants. Mr. Zinder uses the Rolls for his restaurant near Mount Holly which caters a number of weddings.

Getting chauffeured in the Rolls is part of the wedding package. A nice touch, observed Mr. Kramer, who reported that Mr. Zinder saw the car one day, came in, and that was it.

Mr. Kramer adds that he has never had to finance a car. "We never even discuss price. I tell them there it is, this is what I want for it and they either decline or say okay."

He has sold a Bentley S2 to the owner of the Flemington Cut Glass Company, and another Rolls went to a California resident through a classified car advertisement.

Jeff has been in Hopewell since May, 1977. He was driving through one day when he noticed there were no cars outside the Chrysler agency and stopped. That was the beginning.

A Limited Market. "We've been accepted in a short length of time," he said, "probably because we're a specialty house. When you deal in cars in very limited supply—300 in the whole world—and if you happen to have one, they are going to come to you."

Just as important as being able to find that special car is the ability to repair it. Kramer has his own repair shop, again limited to foreign cars. "Most shops won't or can't repair Jaguars and Mercedes," he stated. "We are one of the few shops that can build a rotary engine from parts."

He has five mechanics, all factory-trained, all familiar with different make cars. One was a mechanic in a Mercedes factory in Germany for five years.

In commenting on the sports car as a good investment, Kramer remarked, "the classic car business is booming. A lot of people are going into it; unfortunately, a lot are buying cars that are not classics."

The Jaguar 120, introduced after World War II and one that remains his favorite (the 120 was one of the early cars that started the whole sports craze after the war) is a classic. But a Chevy, even older, is not. Because, explained Mr. Kramer, "there were 1,000 made for every Jaguar."

"You can buy stock with your money and it just sits in some bank vault," he continued. "A classic car will appreciate in value faster than inflation, plus you have something you can use. It's a toy."

Old Porsche speedsters are worth three to four times what they were new in the 1950s, but buyers, he warns, should enter the classic car market with caution. "They should do a lot of research. That's why I try to stick with established, collectable cars."

His Own Choice. What is his own personal favorite? While reluctant to single one out, Mr. Kramer, when pressed, replied that if he had to have one car it would probably be a Daytona Ferrari. "It's a street car but it will go at least 180."

The main roads and autobahns in Europe, he said, are much better than the roads here. He once drove a TVR and a friend a Maserati from Nice to Paris and the two averaged 110 miles an hour.

There are great sport cars available in this country, Jeff says, "but you can't drive them to their full potential unless you want to get in trouble with the law. Some at 60 are just idling. People buy

A wall hanging by Susan Kittredge, 35 Taylor Road, has been accepted in the fiber category for exhibition in the Artists' League of Central New Jersey first annual statewide juried exhibition at Old Bridge Township Civic Center through March 18. Ms. Kittredge is an illustrator, package designer and fabric artist. Her wall hangings are exhibited at Gallery 100 and at a Massachusetts gallery.

Art work by R. Keith Rendall of 218 Prospect Avenue, a Kenyon College Senior, was on display in a one night art show in Evanston, Ill. as part of an attempt to bring together current Kenyon students with alumni and prospective students.

Dr. Jerry D. Mahlman of 15 Lumar Road, Lawrenceville, a research meteorologist with NOAA's Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory located on the Forrestal Campus of Princeton University, has recently been awarded the 1978 Editor's Award of the American Meteorological Society.

The award is given to individuals performing outstanding editing on manuscripts submitted for publication. Dr. Mahlman's citation states that he has been recognized "for his thorough and authoritative reviews of manuscripts submitted to both the Journal of the Atmospheric Sciences and Meteorological Monographs. His perceptive suggestions have led to substantial improvements of several important contributions."

Dr. Mahlman is a visiting faculty member at the University and a graduate of Colorado State University.

Kathleen Tighe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tighe of 8 Yorktown Court, Princeton Junction, has been elected to vice president of the Dickinson College student senate and will begin her year-long duties in March. A sophomore, she successfully competed against two other candidates for vice president. Prior to her election, she served on a student affairs committee which formulated housing proposals. As vice-president, she will preside over the student senate and coordinate social events.

Kenneth D. Reid, son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Reid of 430 Ewing Street, has been elected news editor for The Rutgers Daily Targum, the student newspaper at Rutgers University. He is a sophomore at Rutgers College and graduated from Princeton High School in 1976. He is presently a correspondent for the Associated Press Wire Service in addition to his editorial duties at the Targum.

Judy Linker of Kingston rode "Phreddie Preckles," owned by the Donald Horrigan family of 178 Stockton Street, to an award as the 1977 New Jersey Professional Horseman's Association High Score Championship in the non-thoroughbred category. Ms. Linker was a former language teacher in the Princeton Regional School system. The award was presented at the 1977 High Score Award Dinner of the New Jersey Chapter of the Professional Horseman's Association.

Patricia Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Palmer of 98 Linden Lane, has been accepted for graduate study this fall at King's College, University of London. She will do her doctoral research in the field of quaternary ecology.

Now a senior at Smith College with a major in biology, Miss Palmer became interested in ecology while spending her junior year at the University of Durham, England. During the year she studied with Dr. Judith Turner, a British researcher in the field. At the University of London, she will have the ecologist Dr. Peter Moore as her supervisor.

Following her year at Durham, she was made a life member of the Durham University Society of Change Ringers, a student group responsible for ringing Durham Cathedral's bells for services.

Four area residents have been named to the Dean's List at Bowdoin College on the basis of their scholastic achievements during the first semester. They are Pamela B. Gray '80 of 20 Linwood Circle, Polyxeni S. Rounds '79, of 36 Quaker Road, Princeton Junction; Alexander R. Stevenson Jr., '70 of 28 Montgomery Avenue, Rocky Hill; and Kim A. Macdonald '80 of Sycamore Lane, Skillman.

Robin Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Murray of 123 Carter Road, has received her architectural license from the state of Virginia. She is a 1970 graduate of Princeton Day School and a 1975 graduate of the Cornell University School of Architecture. She is practicing in the Washington, D.C. office of the international architectural firm, Leo A. Daly.

Mrs. Angelina Diaforli, 115 Washington Road, was honored with a candlelight buffet dinner given by her children recently. Honoring their mother were daughters, Mesdames Carrie Moore, Catherine Tylus, Mary Anne Prineotta, Nancy Lee Rhodes, and Judith Anne Davison, and sons, Libert and Robert, all of Princeton; Nicholas of Salem, W. Va., and Antonio Jr. of Dallas, Tex. Also in attendance were her 23 grandchildren, and five of her six great grandchildren, her brothers and sisters, and close friends.

An album depicting her life was presented to her by her children.

Vintage Books has published a special 25th anniversary edition of Eric G. Goldman's "Rendezvous with Destiny." Professor Goldman is the Rollins professor of History at Princeton University and lives at 99 Hartley Avenue.

Since its original publication in 1952 by Alfred A. Knopf and re-issued in 1956 by Vintage, the book has sold more than 300,000 copies. For this anniversary edition, Professor Goldman has written a new preface re-evaluating the book and appraising the history of American liberalism over the last quarter century.

Subtitled, "A History of Modern American Reform," the book is narrative in form. Professor Goldman describes himself as a "staunch liberal" who from his college days had "reservations, an uneasiness about the more sweeping certitudes of liberalism and the cascading righteousness of some of its devotees. In writing 'Rendezvous with Destiny,' my instinct was to proceed with my own dedication to liberalism made plain but with a persistent emphasis on critical analysis and an equal readiness for the cocked eye."

Two Princeton University sociologists, Dr. Suzanne Keller of 59 College Road and Dr. Robert Gutman of 200 Hun Road, have been elected honorary members of the American Institute of Architects. The award is given to individuals who have made distinguished contributions to the architectural profession or its allied arts and sciences and was made to 11 persons this year.

Dr. Keller, who is acting chairman of the sociology department, has played an important role in the understanding of architecture as a social art. According to nominating architects, "She has brought the frontier of the social science to the aid of the profession in the community." As a professor also in Princeton's School of Architecture and Urban Planning for the past 10 years, she has served as a consultant on poverty, urban planning, new towns and management training, and is the author of three books and numerous articles.

Dr. Gutman, who is visiting professor in the School of Architecture, is a pioneer in the study of the relationship between the environment and behavior. His sociological research has brought him to the study of architecture and its influence on urban society and has led to articles on topics such as, "Site Planning and Social Behavior," "What Schools of Architecture Expect from Sociologists," and "The Social Function of the Built Environment." He is known for his ability to help his students gain insight into the sociology of housing and is an active consultant.

In the New Jersey Flower Show in Morristown, Miss Margaretta Cowenhoven of Manning Lane, Lawrenceville, took third place in a class of potted ivies with a specimen of green and white called "Glacier." Mrs. A.V.S. Olett of Woodsville Road, Hopewell, placed third with an ivy "Jubilee," and took second in the class for specimen house plants with an example of "Sagittaria latifolia."

Mrs. Alan Carrick of 260 Prospect Avenue placed second with her ivy, Mrs. John J. Hamel 3rd, 43 Cleveland Lane, won honorable mention with a topiary ivy, Mrs. R. Kenneth Fairman, 88 North Stanworth Lane, and Mrs. Edward C. Rose Jr., took third places with an ivy "needlepoint" and an ivy "Shamrock."

Herbert W. Hobler, 295 Mercer Street, president of the Nassau Broadcasting Company, has been re-elected to a two-year term as a National Association of Broadcasters Director for Class B Markets. He is also the present chairman of the NAB's First Amendment Committee.

them for their exclusiveness and prestige."

He reports he has two plans for the future. One is to start importing classic cars, like the MG-TC and Rolls. He would like to travel in Europe to locate the cars his customers want. During his racing days, he developed some important contacts when he went abroad to get TVR chassis.

The other is to open a restoration shop. "I have the talent in the shop right now - all I need is the space."

Jeff Kramer has found his niche. "I've been around cars so much - even my social life centered around cars - that the transition for me came very easily."

GAMMA-TECH EXPANDS Buys Applied Logic Building. Princeton Gamma-Tech has purchased the building on State Road 206 formerly owned by Applied Logic, PGT president Dr. Joseph Baicker announced this week.

Located on a ten-acre site adjacent to the Princeton Airport, the 14,000-square foot building housed the administrative offices and computer facilities of Applied Logic. It will be used by PGT for general business purposes.

The firm markets and manufactures solid state detectors for gamma-ray spectroscopy, X-ray fluorescent analyzers for R&D and industry, and computer-based analyzers for use on microanalysis systems. It employs 100 people at its headquarters on Route 518 in Montgomery Township and 25 others in sales offices in the U.S. and England and in its sales and manufacturing subsidiaries in Germany. An 8,400-square foot addition to its 29,000-square foot Montgomery building is nearing completion and will soon be fully occupied.

PERSONNEL NOTES

Florence Rosenberg, of 35 Banbridge Street, has joined the sales staff of Firestone Real Estate, the firm handles both residential property as well as commercial and industrial.

Mrs. Rosenberg has been a realtor-about-town since 1974. She obtained her broker-salesman's license in 1977 and will divide her time between Firestone's office at 173 Nassau Street and the new Montgomery office on Route 206.

Roberta M. Heyne of Fox Run Apartments, Plainsboro, has been appointed Supervisor, Consumer Research, at Firmenich. She will report to Mrs. Joan A. Evans. Ms.

Roberta M. Heyne

Heyne previously held the position of sector manager, cosmetics and toiletries.

Priscilla Waring, 145 Ewing Street, field director and formerly vice president of Gallup & Robinson's subsidiary, Princeton National Surveys, has been elected a vice president of Gallup & Robinson and will now be wholly involved in sales and service activities. The field director position will be filled by Audrey Turkel, who most recently served as field director for R.A. Bruskin Associates in New Brunswick.

Ms. Waring is a graduate of Georgetown University and later studied at the University of Barcelona. She is currently serving on the board of trustees of the Community Guidance Center of Mercer County and also on the Joint Civil Rights Commission of Princeton. Mrs. Turkel attended the University of Miami and was a partner in her own market research field service for a number of years before joining Bruskin in 1976.

Princeton Bank and Trust Company has announced three officer promotions. Leonard L. Sager of Trenton has been promoted from assistant treasurer to assistant vice president. Previously with the New Jersey National Bank, he joined Princeton Bank and Trust in 1974.

Raymond U. Sassman Jr. of Hamilton Square has advanced from administrative assistant to assistant treasurer. He has been with the bank since 1962 and has worked as teller, head teller, bookkeeping supervisor and in the accounting department prior to his present post in the operation area.

E. Rena Robbins of Hopewell has also been promoted from administrative assistant to assistant treasurer. She joined the bank in 1967 and has served as a clerk, teller and platform assistant before being appointed manager of the Pennytown office in 1976.

total of $178,400 - about three percent of the amount originally sought. Unofficially, it was estimated that the owner of a $30,000 house in the Borough would pay about $7 less in taxes, in the Township, about $11 less.

Negotiating for the School Board was a relatively new, young superintendent, Philip E. McPherson. The manner in which he conducted himself under intense questioning led Township Committeeman John Wallace to comment, "Philip McPherson is not only a good superintendent but a super one, and he will make a very substantial contribution to this community over the next few years."

A Look at the Future. Residents of Moore Street were asked by police not to let their dogs run loose in the morning when children were on their way to school because several unpleasant incidents had occurred and one child had been bitten.

A lieutenant on the force, Michael Carnevale, noted, "We have a very liberal dog ordinance. In almost any other community I've gone to, dogs are not allowed to run loose."

expectation of taxes and the feasibility of various alternatives. Economic analysis indicates that one cannot build just 26 1-, 2- and 3-bedroom houses without flats, which leaves us with the alternative of producing another large lot subdivision with large, expensive houses.

3. Anyone who has followed the deliberations of the Planning Board over the past few years would know that no variance would be approved by them which sought an increase in density with the provision of two-family or townhouses. Mr. Adamson, therefore, is incorrect in asserting that there are possible alternatives of this type.

4. Finally, in order to provide a forward-looking development meeting today's needs, this project has been researched and formulated over the past 3 years to arrive at a solution which, considering unit size, family types and the provision of 60 percent open space, will increase neither population density nor traffic generation in excess of what the existing zoning ordinances contemplate.

It is our hope that the community, and the governmental agencies which service that community, will evaluate the Constitution Hill proposal on the merits and not form judgments based on erroneous factual allegations.

DUBA TO SPEAK

At World Day of Prayer, World Day of Prayer will be celebrated by Church Women on Friday at 11 at the Lutheran Church of the Messiah on Nassau Street and Cedar Lane. Dessert and beverage will be provided for all who bring a bag lunch. Babysitting is also available.

The Rev. Arlo D. Duba, Director of Admissions and of the Chapel at Princeton Theological Seminary, will address the meeting on the subject, "Uniting in Prayer."

The Rev. Arlo D. Duba

Active in ecumenical dialogues on worship and prayer, Dr. Duba presented a paper at the 1976 Eucharistic Congress in Philadelphia. He and his wife, Doreen recently returned from Southeast Asia where he was invited to present a series of lectures on the Reformed understanding of liturgical theology. These lectures are being published in Chinese and Indonesian.

Formerly Professor of Religion and Chaplain at Westminster Choir College, Dr. Duba came to Princeton Seminary after a year of post-doctoral study at the Liturgical Institute in Paris, France. He is a charter member of the North American Academy of Liturgy and holds membership in several denominational groups which are concerned with worship, prayer and the arts. He has led retreats and presented numerous seminars on the relation of the personal to the corporate worship experience.

The Church Women United of Pennington and Titusville will participate in World Day of Prayer with a service Friday at 1 in St. George's Church in Washington Crossing. Nursery care will be provided.

World Day of Prayer is an international celebration. This year it will be celebrated in 140 countries and 33 islands by millions united in study, liturgy and prayer. This year's service was written by the women of Canada under the theme "Community Spirit in Modern Living."

The first World Day of Prayer was held over 90 years ago, and the first offering taken in 1920. World Day of Prayer offerings will be used for annual grants to Christian Colleges for Women in Asia and the Committee on Christian Literature for Women and Children, as well as short-term grants to migrant ministries, native American self-help projects, programs for women in prison, community development and ministry to the aging.

BULLETIN NOTES

Jeannette Lofas, Founder and Director of the Step Family Foundation, will be the speaker at the Unitarian Church on Wednesday, March 8 at 8. The public is invited to attend this lecture-discussion, sponsored by the Human Growth Committee. A tax deductible donation of $3 is requested.

Ms. Lofas, co-author of "Living in Step," says, "The nuclear family as we traditionally know it, with a biological mother, father and child or children, is fast becoming an alternate life style. In order to deal with the contemporary family, we must recognize the particular dynamics involved in remarriage for both parents and children.

"urgent and long-term needs of American research libraries."

Mr. Dix had a continuing interest in UNESCO and was a member of the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO from 1955 to 1961 and a U.S. Delegate to UNESCO conferences in Paris and Manila.

James L. Skillman, 68, of Mercerville, died February 26 in Hamilton Hospital, Trenton. Mr. Skillman was the projectionist at the Princeton Playhouse for 33 years.

Born in Trenton, he lived in Mercerville for 22 years. He was a member and past president of the Fraternal Order of the Eagles, Nassau area. He also was a member of the Princeton Senior Citizens.

Surviving are his wife, Celia Galeski Skillman; a son, James S. Skillman of Ringoes; two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Traegler of Hamilton Square and Mrs. Marie Kovach of Allentown; three brothers, Roy Skillman of Monroe, N.C., Russell Pullen of Manasquan and Joseph Pullen of Lisbon; five sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Decker of Scranton, Pa., Mrs. Ruth LaRue of Allentown, Mrs. Roberta Revilla, Mrs. Anna Jones and Mrs. Margaret Oswald, all of Trenton, and nine grandchildren.

The Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Mercerville with burial in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Jeannette Oshaad Dennis, 77, of 246 Glenn Avenue, Lawrenceville, died February 21 in St. Francis Medical Center.

Mrs. Dennis was born in Latvia and formerly lived in Rochester, N.Y. She had lived in the Lawrenceville area for the past two and one half years.

Surviving are two sons, Burton and Richard Dennis, both of Rochester, N.Y.; two daughters, Mrs. Irving (Sarah) Harris, also of Rochester, and Mrs. Kalman (Lois) Cohen of Lawrenceville; and six grandchildren.

The service was held in a Rochester funeral home. Memorial contributions may be made to the Trenton Hebrew Academy or the Adath Israel Congregation.

John M. Weber, 52, of 108 Parkside Drive, died February 22 at Stanford University Medical Center in Palo Alto, Calif., as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident. The accident took place February 19 near his California residence.

Mr. Weber was publisher and chairman of the board of EW Communications, a Palo Alto-based firm. He was publisher of Microwave Systems News and Defense Electronics as well as other electronics-oriented handbooks and newsletters.

A graduate of Princeton University, Class of 1947, Mr. Weber was well known in the publishing industry on both the east and west coasts for the past two decades.

Surviving are his wife, Mildred Calder Weber, and their five children, Dianne Weber Bleacher, John, Garry, Laura and Cynthia.

A private memorial service was held in Cleveland, Ohio, where Mr. Weber was born and spent his childhood. The family has requested that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to the Princeton University Scholarship Funds.

Mrs. Jeannette M. McDonald, 70, of 547 Drexel Avenue, Lawrenceville, died February 25 in Helene Fuld Medical Center. She retired in 1973 from the housekeeping department of Mercer Medical Center.

Wife of the late Daniel McDonald, she is survived by a brother, George F. Quilty Sr. of Lawrenceville and several nieces and nephews.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Ann's Church, Lawrenceville, with burial in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mason DeCamillis, 51, Rocky Hill - Pennington Road, Pennington, died February 25 in Presbyterian Medical Center in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a patent attorney for the RCA David W. Sarnoff Research Center in Princeton.

Mr. DeCamillis was the chairman of the Hopewell Township Zoning Board of Adjustment. Born in Detroit, Mich., he lived in Pennington for the past 10 years. He was a member of the Mercer County and New Jersey State Bar Associations.

Surviving are his wife, Patricia Ott DeCamillis; two sons, Clayton R. and Michael S., both at home; a daughter, Mrs. Margaret A. Axelrod of Arlington, Va.; and two brothers, John and Salvatore DeCamillis, both of Detroit.

A private service was held in a Pennington memorial home, the Rev. Wilfrid Ward officiating. Burial was in Pennington Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to Pennington First Aid Squad or to the coronary care unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Mrs. James E. Wallace, Sr., nee Elizabeth Linville, died January 6 in the Presbyterian Denver Hospital, Colo. at the age of 54, after a long illness. Mrs. Wallace was for several years a teacher in the Princeton public schools. Born in Indianapolis, she was a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles and became a reading disabilities specialist.

In Denver she taught at the Beacon School and tutored children with learning disabilities. She was active as a deacon at Wellshire Presbyterian Church and in Denver area art guilds. She served as president of the University of Denver Women's Club in 1975-76.

In addition to her husband, a graduate of Princeton Seminary and associate professor of law at the University of Denver, Mrs. Wallace leaves four sons, James Jr., of Trenton, also a graduate of Princeton Seminary, William and Gary, both of Colorado, and Richard, of San Francisco; her stepmother, Mrs. Dorothy Steart Linville, of Hollywood, Calif. and a granddaughter.

Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 1809 East 18th Avenue, Denver 80218.

HOW TO WRITE A BOOK

By Somebody Who Does. The Henry Reed stories, the Tales of Myrtle the Turtle and who-knows-how-many others, have all been written by Keith Robertson, who lives in Hopewell and likes to talk about his craft.

He explained to an audience of third, fourth and fifth graders at Littlebrook last week, exactly how you go about writing a book. Learn

RECYCLING SCHEDULE

Princeton Borough: Wednesday, March 8. CLEAR GLASS
Wednesday, March 15. NEWSPAPERS

Princeton Township: Re-cycling shed open in the northeast corner of the Shopping Center from 8 to 4:30: bundled or tied newspapers; magazines bundled separately and placed in newspaper bin; glass, clean and separated by color, metal rings removed; cans, washed and sorted according to kind, aluminum (beer and soda) or tin (food) which should be flattened.

West Windsor Township: Recycling sheds and bins behind Township Garage (Highstown and Wallace Roads) AT ANY TIME, newspapers and magazines bundled separately, glass (clean, separated by color) with rings & caps removed, all types of cans (crushed, cleaned and dented).

Montgomery Township: Second Saturday of each month (March 11) at Montgomery Township Hall, Route 206 clear or colored, separated. Newspapers (no magazines) clean and bundled or bagged. Metal aluminum, bi-metal and tin (steel) clean separated, cans with tops and bottoms removed and flattened.

Pennington: Second Saturday of each month behind the firehouse, Bracemel Place. Same instructions as Montgomery Township above.

about words, he advised solemnly, how to spell them, how to use them properly, how to use them together grammatically.

"It's also helpful if you know how to type," he added.

He suggested writing about things you know about (fewer mistakes, that way) and making an outline first. Describe your characters -- like inventing a farmer with a bald head and black mustache -- but be sure never to use the name of somebody you know. Writers, Mr. Robertson said with feeling, write so many pages every day, not just when they feel inspired. "Otherwise, nothing would get written."

It takes about two or three months to write a book, he said, describing how it's handled by the publisher and book-store. Sometimes it takes two years from the time you start, to the time it's ready to be bought, he said.

"And then you open the book to page seven and there is an error neither you nor the publisher caught!"

Mr. Robertson told the Littlebrook students that he started writing in high school and had lots of "terrific" manuscripts that publishers hadn't wanted.

After his talk, students wanted to know even more, like what courses you should take. Somebody even asked, "What happens if three publishers all want your book?" Mr. Robertson smiled.

WINNER ANNOUNCED

In D.A.R. Contest, Carla L. Unglaube of 139 Harris Road, Princeton Junction, has won the D.A.R. annual history essay contest. Carla, a fifth grade student in the Dutch Neck School, submitted the best essay on the topic, "Growing Up In Colonial Times," and will receive a bronze national D.A.R. History medal as well as a Certificate of Award.

Carla's essay has been entered in the state contest to compete for a Gold Medal. Should she win the state contest, she will compete at the national level, where four winners are chosen and each awarded a $100 United States Savings Bond as well as a national D.A.R. Gold medal.

Some 19 5th grade students from the classes of Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Benson and Mr. Williams in the Dutch Neck School received certificates of appreciation. They are Patsey Alex, Denise Anderson, Sara Brawley, Stewart Burnes, Eric Fredricksen, Louise Froelich, Bruce Grainger, Laura Greca, Marie Hannye, Wayne Orndorff, Michael Ranallo, David Rutzel, Jane Saltz, Christopher Schlichting, Virginia Smith, Jane Sung, Patrick Sullivan, Allison Wray and Ted Yun.

Certificates of Award for 7th grade essays have been earned by Arden Cunningham of West Windsor-Plainsboro High School and John Allen of Chapin School. The judges were Mrs. Albert Lippman of Grovers Mill, Arthur Cordwell of Princeton and Martin Leyland of Chapin School.

COOKIES AVAILABLE

From Girl Scouts. Girl Scout troops are taking orders this week for cookies at $1.50 a box. Saturday is the deadline for orders for the six different types of cookies which will be delivered in April.

Those who missed a Girl Scout knock at the door may call Mrs. William Vanden Heuvel, 924-7819, to place their orders.

COME WITH US TO THE LAWRENCE WOODS AND WE'LL SHOW YOU A HOME WITH EVERYTHING YOU'VE ALWAYS DREAMED OF. A marvelous house in a private wooded setting yet actually in a friendly neighborhood within walking distance of the grammar school. You won't believe the spaciousness and tasteful decor that has been built into this fine colonial. Inside, you'll find a grey slate entrance foyer, a formal living room with wall tapestry, an elegant dining room, an extra large ultra modern kitchen with a breakfast area with view, a French country Tudor beamed family room with hearth, custom built-in cabinets and lighting, and a pantry, laundry, and powder room with easy access from the kitchen. Upstairs, is a huge master bedroom suite spanning two rooms with a master bath, dressing area, and plenty of closet space. Three additional family bedrooms include at present a den and a very special nursery that looks like it came out of a story book. Behind this home is one of the prettiest, well-landscaped heated pools that we've seen in the area. If you're looking for the complete home and wonder how long it will last on the market, don't. Just call your Firestone agent a.s.a.p. and we'll arrange to show it to you before the open house.

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

Here is a lovely two story traditional house, beautifully maintained, located on a highly convenient property on one of Princeton's nicest residential streets. There is a handsome rose and perennial garden. The house is ideal for the busy, growing family. There are five bedrooms and three and a half baths plus excellent storage spaces. Large rooms, a 13.5 by 25 foot living room, 13 x 13 square dining room, a family room and a country eat-in kitchen. Particularly desirable for your children, is the location within walking and bicycling distance of the five elementary, parochial or high schools of our area. An unusually attractive value at $129,500

Councilman Richard Woodbridge Is Searching for Suggestions On How to Make Borough Better Than 'a Very Good Community'

With the municipal budget safely in the vault and the DNA ordinance neatly spliced, Borough Council member Richard Woodbridge sat back the other day and began to think once again about those little touches.....

"The things," he mused this week, "that make the difference between a very good community like the Borough and an excellent one."

Mr. Woodbridge put together a list of his thoughts and sent it off to his colleagues on Council, to Mayor Robert W. Cawley, Administrator Robert F. Mooney, Police Chief Michael Carnevale and Engineer George Olexa.

"Tell me what you think," he asked them.

"You know," he said, thumbing through his responses, "everybody expects to have garbage picked up and snow shoveled and police protection, but it's the community that does a little more....."

"Like (Council member) Marty Lombardo's snow-shoveling program for senior citizens. He put in a helluva lot of time on that. Or the parking garage, and Mayor Cawley and Nelson (van den Blink) and I are putting in a great deal of time on that. Both sides of the political fence....."

Mr. Woodbridge is a Republican, Mr. Lombardo and Mrs. van den Blink are Democrats.

Cramped Police. In the tally of replies, the highest score and strongest "yes!" came in response to his suggestion that police headquarters in Borough Hall probably should be expanded in the next five or ten years.

(Incidentally, this response doesn't even include the thoughts of Chief Carnevale, who hasn't yet replied to Mr. Woodbridge.)

"It's pretty clear that headquarters are cramped and much of the equipment old and obsolete. Since I became Police Commissioner, the Chief and I have made a modest beginning, trying to determine the needs of the department for the future."

Make offices out of the below-level police carports, fill in the present ramp: that's one idea. And maybe even Borough Hall itself, built in the mid-1960s, needs revamping.

But that doesn't touch the lives of Borough residents much.

Snow Route? What might indeed impinge on their lives would be the establishment of snow-emergency routes in the community.

Snow-emergency routes are main-traveled streets from which cars must be removed in a snowstorm. In Princeton, probably Nassau, Bayard, the Hodge-Robeson-Wiggins-Hamilton stretch, and so on.

"We just had a mega-emergency, and maybe we don't need special legislation for a 100-year storm," Mr. Woodbridge acknowledges. His respondents were divided 50-50 on the subject.

Filing. Any householder who tries to keep records for income tax knows about the filing and storage problem. In any government, it's multiplied a million-fold.

"Nelson van den Blink wanted to find out about that fence along Robeson Place: who owns it, and who should maintain it? Well, she finally found records going back to the '50s and '60s. How long do we keep records, and what kinds?"

Police records, Mr. Woodbridge says, have to be stored in all kinds of crannies, and there are, as Mrs. van den Blink found, "retrieval problems."

Microfilm may be the answer, and most of Mr. Woodbridge's contacts agree. He has learned that Federal CETA money might be available to train microfilm operators.

"We'd have to find out whether the investment would match the cost and space saved."

Money, Somewhere. It was at a convention of municipal officials that Mr. Woodbridge learned that grants from CETA, the Comprehensive Employment Training Act might be waiting just outside the door.

At the same convention, he happened to encounter a Bergen County official who introduced himself as Grant Administrator for his county.

"It was clear to me that he was a VERY valuable asset," Mr. Woodbridge reports, "and was VERY successful in placing state and Federal money in Bergen-for parks, housing and so on."

"Someone like that might not be affordable for the Borough alone, but suppose we went in with the Township? The Borough and Township are uniquely related to each other and uniquely different from surrounding towns. We'd have a lot to gain if we had someone who could seek out grants for us."

It's possible, Mr. Woodbridge thinks, that Mercer County might be a better place for the Grant Administrator, and he plans to discuss this with Freeholder Barbara Sigmund, once a Borough Council member herself.

Directory? One of Mr. Woodbridge's favorite proposals for a long time has been a joint Borough-Township-Schools directory, preferably one listing names of unknown heroes on the road crews, police officers, school workers, members of volunteer fire companies.

Now, he's enthusiastic about a calendar which would be given free to all Borough residents, paid for by a bank, perhaps (that's the way it's done in Hamilton Township).

As he flips the Hamilton calendar, he points to a full listing, calendar style, of all municipal meetings. An organization chart showing who's who. Pictures of the First Aid and Rescue Squad at an accident. Pictures of firefighters vigorously at work.

"The more I think about a community directory, the more it grows," he grins. "I'd like one that gives a pat on the back to all these people who work for us."

"This town has a high turnover of residents, people who pearances on "Family," "The Waltons," and "Kojak." His films include "Supercops," with Pat Hingle, and "Up the Sandbox," with Barbra Streisand

Stanja Lowe and Catherine Byers play the spinster sisters, Anna and Carrie. Miss Lowe, who recently turned in Peter Shaffer's "Equus" and appeared at off-Broadway's La Mama experimental theatre, won the New Jersey Drama Critics Circle Award for her portrayal of Sarah in Archibald MacLeish's "J.B." She also appeared on Broadway opposite Alec McCowen in "The Philanthropist"

Deborah Offner, who plays Lilly, Julian's simple-minded young bride, appeared at McCarter two seasons ago with Pat Hingle in Lloyd Gold's "A Grave Undertaking." She has just played Frankie in Carson McCullers' "A Member of the Wedding" at the Queens Playhouse.

Barbara Andres, who plays Albertine, Lilly's aristocratic mother, recently appeared on Broadway as Catherine of Aragon to Nicol Williamson's Henry VIII in "Rex." She also appeared in Joseph Papp's hit production of "Threepenny Opera" for the New York Shakespeare Festival

Pat Hingle, making his debut as a director in this "Toys in the Attic" has appeared in many stage, screen, and TV productions, including four Pulitzer Prize winners: Jason Miller's "That Championship Season," Archibald MacLeish's "J.B.," Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," and Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude." Mr. Hingle last appeared at McCarter in "A Grave Undertaking"

IT'S CLIVE BARNES
At Benefit Brunch, March seems to be "Benefit McCarter Month." In addition to the appearance of Princess Grace of Monaco to benefit the theatre, there will be a special brunch for McCarter's benefit featuring drama critic Clive Barnes as speaker.

The brunch will be held Sunday, March 12 from 11:30 to 1:30 at the Nassau Inn. Reservations and ticket information may be obtained from the theatre at 921-8700.

Formerly dance and drama critic for the New York Times, Mr. Barnes is now drama critic for the New York Post. He will talk on drama criticism and the growth of regional theatre in contemporary America. The audience will have an opportunity to ask questions after his talk.

BOYS IN THE BAND
Players to Play. An all-male cast of nine actors will perform in Princeton Community Players' production of "The Boys in the Band," opening this Friday at 8:30 in the Broadmead Playhouse. (Tickets at 924-5976 daytime, 883-7355 evening.)

Directors of the comedy are John DelMonte and Ed Watkinson, both of whom are familiar to Players' audiences. "The Boys in the Band" will play this Saturday and Sunday and again March 10, 11 and 12 and 17 and 18. Curtain-time is 7:30 p.m. on Sundays. Those who attend on opening night may meet the cast at a reception after the performance.

In Mart Crowley's play, eight gay friends gather for a birthday party, to which a straight friend comes, uninvited. The background of homosexuality is accepted

GALA, WITH GRACE

To Benefit McCarter. When Princess Grace (Kelly) of Monaco appears on McCarter Theatre's stage with the Royal Shakespeare's Richard Pasco, she will be donating her talents for the benefit of McCarter and her own personal fee to the World Wildlife Preservation League. The evening of readings, entitled "Birds, Beasts and Flowers," will be next Monday, March 6, starting at 8 p.m. Tickets at $20 -- $10 is tax deductible -- are still on sale at the theatre's box-office. After the performance, Governor Brendan T. Byrne and Mrs. Byrne will be hosts at a black-tie reception for Princess Grace and Mr. Pasco at E.R. Squibb & Sons, Lawrenceville Road. These tickets are $40 and $100. ($30 or $90 of which is tax deductible) and may be reserved through McCarter Theatre, 921-8700.

For their evening of readings, Princess Grace and Mr. Pasco have chosen selections ranging from William Blake's "Auguries of Innocence" to Edward Lear's "The Owl and the Pussycat." There will be readings from Walt Whitman, D.H. Lawrence, Alexander Pope, Robert Frost, James Dickey, G.M. Hopkins, John Keats and Shakespeare.

The program has been devised by John Carroll for the World Wildlife Preservation League and will be given in Washington, Boston, Philadelphia, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh and Princeton.

At the reception, guests will be served crepes and omelets prepared to order, and complimentary beverages. There will be strolling guitarists, and the Squibb gallery and dining area will be decorated with flowers.

Mrs. George A. Vaughn and Reid White are chairmen of a planning committee whose members are Mrs. J.R. McA. Borie, Mrs. Stuart Duncan II, Hayworth Farlow, John Hoff III, Mrs. Lucien S. Marchand, Mrs. Robert Paulus, Mrs. C.B. Straut and Mrs. D.M. Wilson.

Sponsors of the benefit are Firmenich, First National Bank of Princeton, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Gemmill, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Hauptfuhrer Jr., Johnson & Johnson, Oxirane International, William Sword & Co., Inc. and U.S. Suburban Press, Inc.

Beaux Arts Trio Comes to Princeton Again, Delights Audience with Superb Performance

The Beaux Arts Trio returned to McCarter Theater Monday, playing two major works of the early romantic period in the third of this season's Princeton University Concerts, Series II. The program contained Schubert's Trio in E-flat major, Opus 100, and Beethoven's Trio in B-flat major, Opus 97, the "Archduke Trio."

The superb artists who comprise the Trio are Menahem Pressler, piano; Isadore Cohen, violin; and Bernard Greenhouse, cello. They have developed a remarkable homogeneity, but one in which the elements are nevertheless easily perceptible.

The most unusual feature contributing to this sonorous blend was the way Mr. Pressler managed to squeeze his notes gently out of the piano, minimizing the harshness of the attack. He thereby produced a piano tone considerably less distinct from that of the violin and cello than one normally hears.

Their studied precision in the execution of nuances, both in tempo and dynamics, was a most conventional though no less imperative means to this result. But their clarity and individual character served to maintain, in addition to this smooth unity, the parallel dimension of three performers harmonizing.

A Second Instrument. Still another noteworthy aspect was Pressler's extraordinary pianissimo, usually called forth in accompanimental sections. So special was this effect that the piano itself often assumed a second instrumental identity, for the timbre would change somewhat as normal volume returned in solos.

The technical means employed by the strings for expressive purposes were less conspicuous, but the result was no less obvious. One device Mr. Cohen used often was a crescendo on short passages of three or four notes, all passing so quickly that many performers probably wouldn't have bothered shaping them so. Mr. Greenhouse once played what sounded like a low open C, but he was fingering on the next string as well — probably stopping that string at the octave to provide sympathetic resonance and thus greater richness to what already is a warm note.

Such care for detail as well as for the longer-range and larger-scale contours produced a scintillating concert. The difficulty of that accomplishment was increased by the selection of such long works, each one half of the program, during which the sense of cohesion can be lost.

Schubert is not usually terse, and here he certainly is not. Beethoven can be concise or expansive, and here he leans toward the latter. The first movement of the "Archduke" was the least unified in performance, beginning a trifle understated, restrained, then progressing, but not uniformly, to a climactic outburst at the end of the exposition. The intervening episodes were a little too disjunct; perhaps the contrasts were too strong (although truly violent contrasts were effective at the right moments).

"Straight" Pays Off. In one of the subsidiary themes in the first movement of the Schubert, a repeated rhythmic pattern was delivered with the downbeats lengthened just a hair. This made the theme more "juicy" for a while, but persisted too long for the maximum benefit of that theme.

In the second movement, a much-repeated cadential rhythm derived from the second theme was played without any tempo changes and no dynamics except a slow diminuendo. Despite the temptation to find some gimmick for such an extended passage, the Trio played it absolutely "straight," and it worked marvelously.

The group's homogeneous-heterogeneous character began to appear noticeably in the scherzo, and the fourth movement was remarkable for textural seniorities, especially when the theme of the slow movement reappeared. Pressler's seamless scales were not quite matched by the strings in the cadenza-like sections of this finale, but the rapidly repeated four-note figures in one of the themes, so idiomatic for strings and so awkward for the piano, were successfully delivered by all the instruments.

One of the most ingratiating moments in the Beethoven was the appearance of the menacing trio in the second movement, played as usual with plenty of attention to detail, supplanting the low-keyed gaiety of the scherzo only to yield to a new rollicking tune. The third movement produced some of the most intense dynamics, notably a number of crescendos centered in a phrase, so that one first heard a good part of the phrase softly, a sweeping crescendo on just one note or two, and the rest at full volume. This worked more strongly than a conventional evenly-paced crescendo would have. One place in the first variation produced a sforzato which should have been recorded as the standard for that nuance.

As an encore, the Trio played the zesty finale from Haydn's Trio in A major, with a bounce one normally wouldn't expect at the end of a concert like this one. They looked and sounded as if they would gladly have played the entire trio.

—Donald Greenfield

BERMAN HERE

In Plano Recital, Lazar Berman, the Soviet piano virtuoso, was scheduled to open the Music - at - McCarter series last fall, but was forced to cancel his engagement because of illness.

He will make his McCarter appearance next Tuesday, March 7 (8 p.m.) and ticket-holders for the October concert may use their tickets for the March 7 recital.

Mr. Berman has built his reputation on his interpretations of the Romantic repertoire, and is known for his powerful technique.

THREE CONCERTS SET

In Woolworth Center, The Friends of Music will sponsor three concerts, largely by Princeton University students, over the weekend. All performances will take place in the Woolworth Center on the University campus and are free and open to the public.

Jennifer Guy, Cellist, and Fritz Zeigler, pianist, will play Friday at 8:30. They will perform the "Sonata in E major" by Francois Francaeur; "Sonata for solo cello" by Vagn Holmboe; "Siete Canciones Populares" by Manuel de Falla and "Sonata in F Major, opus 6" by Richard Strauss.

Miss Guy is a graduate of Ohio State where she majored in music. She is a member of the Princeton University Orchestra and is currently studying cello with Evangelina Benedetti in New York. Mr. Zeigler is a third year graduate student in musicology at Princeton and studies piano with Gerald Bushy in New York.

Leslie Gersing, coloratura soprano, and Anne Hurlbert, pianist, will give a recital on Saturday at 3. Miss Gersing will sing songs by Mozart and Poulenc, and Miss Hurlbert will play "Sonata in F Major, Opus 10, No. 2" by Beethoven and "Partita No. 1 in B flat Major" by Bach.

Miss Gersing is a junior at Princeton, a member of the chapel choir and a third year voice student with Shirlee Emmons. Miss Hurlbert is a sophomore who has studied piano for ten years. Currently studying with William Chaisson, she has won numerous competitions and has given several recitals.

Denise Seutter, coloratura soprano, will perform works by Purcell, Arne, Faure, Debussy, Richard Strauss, Wolf and Rachmaninoff Sunday at 3. She will be accompanied by William Toole, pianist.

A senior at Princeton, majoring in French, Miss Seutter has given recitals previously under the auspices of the Friends of Music and has performed at the Washington's Crossing Open Air Theatre and the Princeton Opera Association. She has studied at the Interlochen Arts Academy and is currently a voice student with Mr. Toole at the Juilliard School in New York.

CONCERT PLANNED

By University Organist, Greg Smith '75 will give an organ concert on Sunday at 8:30 at Procter Hall in the Graduate College of Princeton University.

The program will consist of classical works from the French and English Baroque and "style galant" periods. There will also be a number of pieces on the program composed by the organist in both traditional and contemporary idioms.

Mr. Smith, who is studying composition and theory in the department of music at Princeton University, is a principal University organist. Currently, he is organist and choir director at the First Baptist Church in Trenton, and for the Aquinas Institute. Mr. Smith is also studying organ techniques with Eugene Roan, professor at Westminster Choir College.

SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED

To Young Musicians. To encourage young people in the study of music and the art of public performance, The Greater Trenton Symphony will hold its annual scholarship competitions for young people this spring in Trenton.

The Graham - Stahl Scholarship will offer awards from $500 to $200 for high school and undergraduate college French horn players living within a 17-mile radius of Trenton. The competition will be held on Saturday, May 6. The Hobin Harp Competition will be held simultaneously with two awards of $400 and $200 for undergraduate college students living in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Two scholarship funds are available for piano students living within a 17-mile radius of Trenton. The Acuff Awards $125 and $75 will be given to junior high school winners. The Gindhart Scholarship Awards are divided between 9th and 10th, and 11th and 12th grade pianists with six prizes ranging from $250 to $75. The preliminary piano competitions will be held on Saturday and Sunday, April 8 and 9.

Applications for all competitions are available from the Greater Trenton Symphony office at 28 West State Street, Trenton.

TO SING HAYDN MASS

At Amateurs Meeting. The next meeting of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will be held on Sunday, March 12, at 4 in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road and Route 206. Igor Chichagov, director of the Princeton Opera Society, will conduct an open reading - rehearsal of the Haydn "Heilgmesse" in English. In addition to the chorus and full orchestra, there will be soloists, Harriet McCleary, soprano; Sandra West, alto; John Kemp, tenor, and Steve Owen, bass.

Anyone interested in choral singing is invited to participate or attend. No auditions are required to sing in the chorus, but modest sight-reading ability is helpful. There is a small charge for those without a yearly membership to cover music and refreshments.

All students are admitted without charge. For further information call Mrs. Michael Ramus at 924-4266.

MUSIC, FASHIONS SET

At Westminster Tea. A second annual "Two-thirty-tea" with music and fashion will be held for the benefit of the Westminster Choir College on Monday in the Student Center on the College campus.

Mrs. Sidney Stevens, a member of the board of trustees, is chairman. Committee members include Mrs. Charles Agle, Mrs. Francis Austin, Mrs. Mellick Belshaw, Mrs. Lee H. Bristol Jr., Mrs. Richard Fowler, Mrs. Howard McMorris, Mrs. Richard K. Paynter Jr., Mrs. William Scheide, and Mrs. Fenn Stafford, all of Princeton, and Mrs. Frederick Thayer of Bethlehem, Pa.

A fashion show of casual, afternoon and evening dresses will be presented by the Mary

WHIFFENPOOFS HERE

For Yale Club Concert. The Yale Whiffenpoofs will give a concert Friday, March 10, at 8:30 in the auditorium of Princeton Day School. Their concert is sponsored by the Yale Club of Princeton.

The Whiffenpoofs have been singing for nearly 70 years. Their songs and arrangements include hit selections from many of those 70 years, plus the new ones which each group of 14 seniors adds to the repertoire. The well-known "Whiffenpoof Song," about those "poor little lambs who have lost their way," can be traced to the original group in 1909 which adapted a Kipling poem.

Tickets are available at the door for $3.

G. Dress Shop of the Princeton Shopping Center. Mrs. Charles Agle will be the commentator, and the models will be Mrs. Barton Thomas, Mrs. G. Reginald Bishop, Mrs. Francis Austin, Mrs. Eugene Haring, Mrs. Frank Gorman Jr., Mrs. Ernest Dale, Mrs. Frederick Thayer and Mrs. James Graham Donoval Brown, a Westminster student, will play the piano during the show.

The Westminster "Faculty Foursome," Judith Nicosia, soprano; Lois Laverty, mezzo-soprano; Dennis Shrock, tenor; and Robert Melver, baritone, will give a short program of madrigals and a medley from "Showboat." Tea will be served.

Reservations may be made through Mrs. Belshaw at 15 Boudinot Street, 921-1146.

N.J. SYMPHONY RETURNS

For McCarter Concert. The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will play the third program in its current series at McCarter on Wednesday, March 8, at 8:30. John Ellis will again give a pre-concert lecture in the Bristol Chapel, Westminster Choir College, on Tuesday at 12 noon.

Walter Susskind will conduct the program which includes Webern's Passacaglia, Op. 1, Mozart's Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, No. 3 in G Major, featuring Edith Peinemann as violin soloist, and Schubert's Symphony No. 9 in C Major, "The Great."

Non-subscription tickets are available and may be reserved in advance by calling the Symphony box office, (201) 624-8203, between 10 and 5. Tickets reserved in this way may be picked up at McCarter as early as one hour but no later than 15 minutes before the concert. Tickets may also be purchased on the evening of the performance at McCarter.

Subscribers who cannot use their tickets are urged to telephone the symphony office as soon as possible. Tickets may also be returned to McCarter Theatre box office one hour before the 8:30 performance.

General admission to Mr. Ellis' lecture is $2. For members of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League admission is free. The informal lecture is designed to introduce and explicate the orchestra's program and the community is invited. Bring a bag lunch; coffee will be provided.

2nd CONCERT SUNDAY

In YWCA Series. The YWCA will present the second in its series of free fireside chamber concerts Sunday at 2. Performing 18th century music for the oboe by Mozart and Telemann will be Robert Cayne, oboe. Portia Sonnenfeld, cello; Olga Gorelli, harpsichord; and Marilyn Reynolds, violin.

Mr. Cayne, who is originally from New York is a member of the New Jersey Pops and has played in the New York

Orchestral Society, the New York City Symphony and as a free-lance oboist. He studied oboe with the late Harry Shulman who played with the NBC Symphony Orchestra under Arturo Toscanini.

Mrs. Sonnenfeld studied music at Oberlin College and Roosevelt University and was a student of Sheridan Russell in London. She has taught strings since 1955 and conducts the Princeton High School orchestra. Mrs. Gorelli is also a composer who has written two operas, a Mass, chamber music, and many songs.

Ms. Reynolds is a graduate of Oberlin College and the Royal Conservatory of Music in Brussels. She has been a student of Shemuel Ashkenazi and Itzak Perlman and is a free-lance violinist in the New York - New Jersey area. This spring, she will teach two string workshops at the YWCA for beginners and for people who would like to brush up their skills.

Nursery care will be available for children under three years old at a small fee. Call the YWCA, 924-4825 ext. 22, for nursery reservations and further information.

News of the Theatres

Friday, Saturday and Sunday and again March 16 through 18.

For the Chekhov half of the evening, Theatre Intime has scheduled "On the Harmfulness of Tobacco, a farcical monologue; "The Bear," which is also a farce, and "The Chorus Girl," which is not. Carol Elliott will direct.

Tennessee Williams will be represented by "Talk To Me Like the Rain and Let Me Listen," and "This Property is Condemned," both under the direction of Rick Smith.

Ms. Elliott, who formerly taught English in New Hampshire, created a program of children's theatre in her community, bringing live theatre to residents of the small New Hampshire town for the first time. She spent last year in London and Paris seeing plays, and this fall, directed several plays at Princeton University for Wilson College Theatre.

Mr. Smith is an English major at the University and has played in three of Shakespeare's plays: "Twelfth Night," "A Midsummer's Nights' Dream" (at Princeton Inn) and "Measure for Measure" for Intime. He also directed "Twelfth Night" for Princeton Inn and composed its songs.

"BABES IN ARMS" AT PDS. "The largest cast in PDS history." That's what they're saying about the turnout for "Babes in Arms," the Princeton Day School winter musical opening this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Herbert McAneny Theatre on the school campus.

TWO ONE-ACTS SET

By Wilson College Theatre. Wilson College Theatre will present two one-act plays March 9-11 at 8 in the "Truckstop" Theatre.

Terence McNally's "Next" will open the evening. This story of a too candid interviewer, Alvirto Martin, and an overanxious interviewee, Jordan Simon, will be directed by Rebecca Trask. The evening will conclude with "The Medal of Honor Rag" by Tom Cole, a play which deals with a black Vietnam veteran, Scott Wheeler, and a psychiatrist, Chuck Gosse, who attempts to help him deal with the world again.

The musical tells about a group of teen-age apprentices in a summer stock company on Cape Cod. They are trying to put on a production of their own in their spare time, but there is enough frustration to fill both their time and the plot.

Performers are Jon Spiegel, Jeff Patterson, Suzannah Rabb, Betsy Murdoch, John

Wallace, Jennifer Chandler, Roger Fried, Nancy Rosenberg, Kerry Faden and Don Gips. Mimi Suarez has done the choreography. Gary Lott the scenic design and Pamela Sherin the costumes.

ENGRAVINGS ON VIEW

By Winslow Homer. A collection of original wood block engravings by Winslow Homer (1836-1910) will be shown at Gallery 100, 100 Nassau Street, through March 15.

Homer was apprenticed to a Boston lithographer early in his career and began submitting wood engravings to Harper's Weekly in 1857, five years before he produced his first oil paintings. Later he executed wood engravings, etchings, and watercolors of some of the same subjects as his oil paintings. He supported himself until 1874 by his wood engravings for Harper's and for a number of other publications.

Gallery Hours are Monday through Thursday, 9 - 5:30, and Friday and Saturday, 9-5.

BUSTRIIP PLANNED

To Turner Show. The Princeton Art Association is offering a trip to the Joseph M.W. Turner show at the Philadelphia Museum of Art Thursday, March 23. On exhibit will be large numbers of Turner's glowing watercolors, many on loan from collections and museums in England.

Turner met success early in his career, but he found his way to his own individual statement rather slowly. He became interested in the effect of light. Turner's light -- unlike that of the Impressionists, which becomes a vibrant opalescent shimmer -- is expressed as the element of fire -- the fire of the sun.

Many of his paintings of the burning of the Houses of Parliament will be on exhibit at the museum show. A decent lecture will be included in the trip.

A charter bus will leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 9 and return at 4. The cost is $10 for members and $11 for non-members, including transportation, gratuities, tax-deductible contribution, admissions and lecture, and snack pack. Reservations are on a first-come, first-served basis, and can be made through the PAA, 921-9173.

Mrs. Heinz Heinemann is chairman of a one-man show of his work in June.

WATERCOLORS SHOWN

By Bank Officer. The First National Bank of Princeton will host a one-man watercolor show by one of its employees during the month of March. Watercolors by Harrison Cottingham, First National vice president, will be on view in the bank's main office lobby at 90 Nassau Street.

Mr. Cottingham, a resident of Griggstown, began painting watercolors two years ago as a leisure pastime and is rapidly gaining acclaim in the area. His work has been on display at Grovers Mill Gallery and D & D Frames in the Pennytown Shopping Center. Gallery 100 is planning

PHOTOGRAPHS ON VIEW

In Nassau Inn Exhibit. Photographs by M. Jay Goodkind, a Trenton cardiologist, will be on view at the Nassau Inn until March 15.

Dr. Goodkind has had several one-man shows in the Metropolitan Philadelphia area and has had photographs published in newspapers and journals. His work has been exhibited at the New Jersey State Museum during the last three years.

Dr. Goodkind is a graduate of the Lawrenceville School and Princeton University. He received his medical degree at Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1953 and taught at the Medical School of the University of

The New York based family business D. Kalfaian and Son, Inc. will offer hand woven all wool Oriental rugs in a variety of patterns, colors and sizes. Ranging in age from 19th Century antiques to brand new, the rugs are offered at reasonable prices. The Kalfaian's have been in the New York metropolitan area since 1907.

A donation of $2.50 per person includes a film about the history and craftsmanship of Oriental rugs, hors d'oeuvres and punch, free rug catalogue, and the auction itself. All proceeds will benefit AAUW's Education Foundation, which provides graduate fellowships for women and finances local public service projects. Tickets and further information can be obtained by calling (201) 874-3536 or 924-7580.

A pot luck dinner will be held by the Princeton Area Alumnae Club of the Alpha Chi Omega national sorority on Monday at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Diane Taylor, 13 Monterey Drive, Princeton Junction

Following the dinner, election of officers will be held. Nominees will be presented by the nominating committee, headed by Mrs. program about the squad and Lenise Smith. For further will demonstrate some of the information, call the club equipment, discuss first aid hints, signs and symptoms, at 924-5543

SPORTS FANS
BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
Brought to You by John Bernard

Here's one hard to believe ... There are 3 major sports teams who play their home games in places that have dimensions which violate the rule book! ... Major league hockey rinks are supposed to be 200 feet long -- but 3 teams in the National Hockey League play on rinks that are less than regulation ... Boston's is 191 feet long, Buffalo's is 196 feet, and Chicago's is only 188 feet long -- a full 12-feet shorter than regulation.

Did you ever realize all the great football players who have never played in a Super Bowl game ... They include such players as O.J. Simpson and Walter Payton.

Ever wonder who was the shortest man ever to lead the National Basketball Association in scoring? ... In the 31 years that the NBA has been in existence, the shortest man ever to lead the league in scoring was Nate Archibald, who won the NBA scoring title in the 1972-73 season. Archibald is 6-feet, 1-inch tall.

I bet you didn't know ... that our $10,000 deductible major medical with a $250,000 limit could cost a man age 50, wife age 48, and two children as little as $240 per year.

Tigers Aim for Upset of Cornell Hockey Team In Final Contest of Home Season Friday Night

Princeton's hockey team, which has learned an immeasurable amount about how to play the sport under new coach Jim Higgins, will conclude its home season Friday night at 7:30 in Baker Rink against Cornell.

The Red has already completed successful defense of its Ivy title, winning eight consecutive league games after somewhat unaccountably dropping its first two in December on a road trip to New Haven and Providence. Five weeks ago, Higgins took his team to Ithaca where it lost, 7-6, in the final eight seconds, and the return match here appears certain to draw an SRO crowd of 2,400. Last winter, the struggling Tigers, who frequently are at their best against this strong opponent, very nearly won here before settling for a 6-6 deadlock.

Offense is the name of the game as far as the Ithacans are concerned. They have four of the top five scorers in Ivy statistics on their roster and in compiling an overall record of 19-4-1 have averaged 8.5 goals a game. Their total output of 149 tops all eastern teams, some of which have played more games.

Cornell's most awesome display of power was demonstrated on its home ice in January. When a good Yale team, which had had the temerity to upset the Red a month previously, 3-2, in overtime, took the ice for the return contest, Cornell scored nine goals in the opening period en route to a 13-1 triumph.

If Coach Dick Bertrand's team is concentrating on the opposing goal much of the time, it nonetheless has a topflight goalie. Steve Napier ranks as the league's best and the east's best by a wide margin in both percentage of saves and goals allowed.

Last Game for Seven Seniors. Saturday night will see the Tigers in Troy, N.Y., for a game with Rensselaer Polytech, which is battling for a place in the eight-team playoffs. RPI won here last winter, 9-3, and it will be an astonishing performance on the part of the Orange and Black if it can survive the long bus trip and the effects of playing Cornell the night before by winning its final game of the season.

Seven seniors will bring their Princeton careers to a close this weekend. They include the tri-captains, center Bill Tresham and wings Jon Van Sieten and Frank Techar; wing Barry Wihak, who has been out for the past two weeks with an injury and will not play; defenseman Henry Lane; and the two goalies, Fred Cherne and Dave Ramsay.

Penn to Quit Hockey. Penn was on the schedule Tuesday night for a game (played after TOWN TOPICS' press deadline) that made an unwelcome bit of history. In a surprise decision, athletic officials at the Ivy League college have voted to abandon the sport, a move dictated by the excess amount of red ink in which sports at Penn are swimming.

The Quakers joined the league a decade ago and have occasionally finished in its first division, invariably fielding a team of some ability. They built and dedicated a new rink six years ago, and that proved to be the Catch 22 of their current dilemma. Located in a part of Philadelphia where street crime is rife, it has been drawing an average of only 300 fans a game, has little or no income from public skating and club use -- as Baker Rink does--and is a major source of the current deficit.

Tuesday's game was accordingly the last in the sport between Penn and Princeton for the foreseeable future. The Ivy League will play with six teams next winter and Princeton will seek to add a pair of independents to fill the gaps in its schedule, if it can do so within economic reason.

WEEKEND SPOILS SPLIT With Clarkson, St. Lawrence. Best mark of Princeton's unflagging morale in the face of disappointment this season is the fact that a narrow loss to a superior opponent does not diminish the Tigers' eagerness for action. A 5-4 defeat at the hands of third-ranked Clarkson Friday in Baker Rink was promptly followed by a solid 4-1 triumph over St. Lawrence, the first over this foe in four years.

Outshot by the one-sided margin of 19 to 4 in the first period of the Clarkson game, Princeton managed to score on half of its attempts and trailed by only 3-2 as Cherne's great work kept his teammates in the game. Craig Tresham got his 10th of the winter at 6:49, the visitors took a 2-1 lead in the next six minutes and freshman Dave Tweedy brought the Tigers even at 15:17, four seconds after a power play had started.

The losers' 3-2 deficit at the start of the middle period was erased by Trevor Kilburn at 6:41, sophomore defenseman Pete Delorey getting his second assist of the night, but Clarkson moved out to a 5-3 lead on goals less than a minute apart but spaced by the break between the second and third periods.

There was no further scoring until Higgins pulled Cherne with well over a minute to go. The move paid off when Kilburn scored at 18:58 but that was as close as the Tigers could come. They were outshot on the evening, 30-21, as Clarkson raised its record to 19-9 and next day trounced Penn, 7-3.

Quick Score. First time they took the puck down the ice, the Tigers set the pace for their victory over St. Lawrence by turning on the red light with just 25 seconds gone. Techar banged in an uncovered rebound, Bill Tresham and Cliff Lawrick of that line getting assists.

Cherne yielded the only goal the losers got at 6:20 of the first period, again contributing a number of acrobatic saves as his side was outshot, 13 to 6. He got considerable help on defense, Princeton at one time killing a two-man advantage St. Lawrence enjoyed for more than a minute. The Tigers drew 11 penalties, some of them for unnecessary roughing and a needless one that was called on the bench, but their hustle and puck control while they were short-handed were well above average.

The go-ahead goal came almost at the mid-point of the game (14:32 of period two). With St. Lawrence a man down for cross checking, freshman Jim Farrell fed Tweedy to set up a 2-on-1 breakaway. That enabled Tweedy to lay the puck right

Five Seniors to Play Final Games for Tiger Basketball Team

A Princeton basketball team that is the first in four years to have no prospects of action in a past-season tournament will play out its schedule on the road this weekend. Hoping to finish with a respectable 17-9 mark overall and second to Penn in the Ivy League, the Tigers will be at Ithaca, Friday and in New York Saturday for games against Cornell and Columbia. Had it not been for a 38-36 upset at the hands of the Lions here a month ago, Coach Pete Carril's quintet would have been in the midst of another typical down-to-the-wire chase for the Ivy crown. That defeat, however, which came on a 25-foot push shot by a Columbia substitute with four seconds left, removed Princeton from all logical hope of contention, because Penn must now lose twice this weekend while the Tigers win twice in order to force a playoff.

Should that occur, the standings would show a triple tie among the top three teams - all with identical 11-3 marks. Such a deadlock would force a coin toss to determine which college would earn a bye while the other two knocked each other off. With NCAA action set to start the following Saturday, a last-minute search for neutral courts could produce a good deal of a problem. A three-way tie among this trio marked the end of the 1955 season, Princeton winning the bye, Columbia beating Penn in Dillon Gym and, next night, Cappy Cappon guiding the Orange and Black to a decisive 86-69 rout of the Lions in Rutgers' gymnasium. In the event of a Columbia Penn tie this year, a playoff would be held - probably on Tuesday and possibly in Jadwin Gym.

on Craig Tresham's stick slightly to the right of the cage and about 20 feet out. The angle shot to the far corner eluding the play said a lot for Princeton hockey.

St. Lawrence pulled it's goalie toward the end, but the six-man attack could not control and it was the same Tweedy-Tresham Farrell combine that hit the empty net. Farrell beat a back-checking defenseman from 15 feet out.

Tweedy, who likes to think of the whole rink as a place where he can be if he works at it, had a fine night with three assists. The Tigers raised their season's record to 7-13-2, modest numerically but representing more than double the number of games they won last year.

TITLE GAME SATURDAY

For Princeton Hockey Club. The Montreal Canadiens of club hockey (aka the Princeton Hockey Club) will attempt to put the finishing touch on an undefeated season this weekend when it meets Beaver Dam for the championship of the Winter Club Ice Hockey League. The action will be at 11:30 Saturday at Baker Rink.

PHC has stormed through a 12 game schedule this winter winning every time, including six league contests and six against other opponents. It has scored 141 goals, while limiting the opposition to 50.

The league title has been won by the Princeton Club the previous two seasons. Beaver Dam made it into the playoff by scoring a 6-5 upset victory over the Bedford Bears.

With the undefeated streak on the line in addition to the league title, even some of the more rowdy players are said to be observing strict training rules.

Cornell, playing in consistently with a young team (losing to Dartmouth at home, beating Harvard on the road) has the league's second highest scorer in sophomore Mike Davis, who is averaging close to 24 points a game. Penn's Keven McDonald is leading in this department, but Davis and a team which, like Yale, hasn't a senior on the roster, are building for a run into first division next winter.

Columbia, which lost eight of its first ten games, has won 12 of its last 14 and has the ability to keep Princeton in third place - which would be the Tigers' lowest finish since 1974. Ricky Free, Juan Mitchell, Shane Cotner, Mike Wilhite and Alton Byrd are the balanced quintet who make the Lions go. All but Wilhite will be back next year to help give the league one of the few races in many years in which any one of four or five teams could win.

Rally Needed to Top Yale. A "stupid" first half (Carril's adjective) cost Princeton a seven-point deficit against a young Yale team Friday night. Belief that they had the Elis already beaten here after having whipped them, 72-49, a fortnight earlier cost the Tigers considerable embarrassment as they stood around while the Blue blew by them for seven backdoor baskets. It was 30-23 at the intermission, on the strength of what Eli coach Ray Carrazo termed "the best half we have played all season."

For reasons no one could fathom, Yale couldn't stand prosperity. The visitors, who shot better than 60 percent in the first half, connected on less than 10 percent (2 for 21) in the first 16 minutes after

The 17-man squad includes 14 former Princeton Country Day or PDS players; John Cook, Colie Donaldson, Fred King, Aubrey Houston, Bloxie Baker, Jim Rodgers, Buzz Woodworth, Patrick Rulon-Miller, Scott Reid, and the peerless Pony Praker, making yet another comeback after first suffering a broken neck a few seasons ago and a broken leg last year in the championship game.

PP'S NUMBER FIVE

For Princeton Day. There's nothing like winning a tournament to put to rest some rather frustrating memories of an imperfect season.

It wasn't all sweetness and light by any means for the Princeton Day basketball team this winter, but Saturday's victory over Rutgers Prep in the finals of the NJISSA Class B tournament put a rosy glow on the season. Winning the crown for the fifth consecutive year, the Blue and White broke the record of four held by Gill-St. Bernards.

PDS did it in convincing fashion, too, winning, 68-51, after having led by more than 20 in the fourth period. Rutgers Prep had won the regular season meeting between the two just 10 days earlier, but in doing so, it probably did the Panthers a favor.

More than ready to prove itself the better team, Princeton Day got off to a blazing start from the opening tip-off, scoring 16 points, while limiting the Argos to no field goals and just four points.

The losers made a game out of it in the second quarter, cutting the deficit to 25-20 at halftime. "They changed their defense, and we didn't adjust as quickly as we should have," coach Alan Taback explained. PDS took care of whatever action resumed. They yielded 20 unanswered points, Princeton converting its 30-23 deficit to a 50-35 advantage with just four minutes to go. Eventually, it was a 52-41 final.

Much of what went favorably for the Orange and Black was traceable to the fine play (again) of 6-11 Tom Young in a reserve capacity. Going into action when Bob Roma drew his fourth personal just over a minute into the second half, Young converted a three-point play to bring the teams even at 35. By game's end, he had 11 points, four rebounds and two blocked shots.

After four strong games in a row, Sowinski was held to eight points. Omelchenko led the victors with a dozen, Kleimert adding 10.

The victory was the 200th for Carril since he came to Princeton in 1967 to succeed

February 22 on the Rockefeller Center rink in New York City. Paul Merrow, Charlie Reeves and Scott Garvey teamed up with other boys from New Jersey and Long Island to face a similar team of nine and 10-year olds from the Metropolitan New York League. Merrow and Reeves each scored 15 and James Cox, 12. In the semi-final contest against Wardlaw a week ago, PDS broke out of its deliberate style of play and used an effective fast break to whip the Rams, 64-49. Walters and Jamie Bartolomee sharing scoring honors with 16 apiece, Hill had 15.

PRINCETON CLUBS WIN

In All-Star Soccer Play. The Panthers and Cougars, the Princeton Soccer Club's Winter All-Star teams, travelled to Wilmington, Del., Sunday to oppose the Hillside Soccer Club. In both matches, the Princeton teams displayed a well-rounded scoring punch to win decisively.

The Cougars won, 17-4, as Ray Lauricella had a fine day in the goal. David Connell and Bill Ross provided much of the scoring. Gary Gallagher, Joel Dreskin and Brian Bullock also scored while Mike Keller and Tad Wislar anchored the defense.

The Panthers also had an easy time of it, winning their third straight, 17-7. Peter Bordes made several spectacular saves in the nets while Ron Lauricella and Bruce Liffiton had four goals apiece. Jim Laughlin, Doug D'Autrechy and John Tevebaugh also played fine games for the victors.

THREE BOYS COMPETE

In All-Star Hockey. Three boys from Princeton's Squirt Ice Hockey team competed with other all-stars in a unique hockey game played Butch van Breda Kolff. The 200th triumph of his coaching career was recorded last December, when the Tigers won their biggest game of the current season in a convincing defeat of Rutgers. Carril had won 11 games at Lehigh before he came here.

Farewell for Five Seniors. Saturday night's 80- to - 59 victory over Brown was noteworthy because for a time during the second half, Carril did something no long-time Tiger basketball fan could remember seeing. He used all five seniors on the squad at the same time to commemorate their final home appearance.

Such a lineup is highly unusual because for many years, Princeton teams have rarely if ever had five seniors on the roster. The reason is simply that enough capable sophomores and juniors develop steadily so that seniors who have not secured a firm place on the squad by their final year either drop out or are cut to make the 14-player limit.

Carril had the 6-5 Sawinski at center, undoubtedly for the first and only time; Kleimert and the little-used Rich Staria at forwards, Omelchenko and Rich Rizzuto at guards. Everybody but Brown, a team riddled by graduation losses and injuries and trailing at that point by 58-33, loved it.

Sowinski, fittingly, closed out his Jadwin Gym career with 25 points and now has 1,110. He needs only 13 more to finish sixth on the Tigers' all-time scoring list. Omo with 11, Kleimert and Rizzuto with 10 apiece gave the victors four players in double figures as they raised their overall mark to 15-9.

got a goal and an assist in the contest which ended in a 2-2 tie after three periods of play. A crowd of around 4,000 watched the game, which required several rule modifications mandated by the small size of the rink and absence of side boards. Offsides was not called and checking and slapshots were prohibited to protect the glass surrounding the rink.

PHS ADVANCES THREE

To NJSIAA Mat Regional. Three Princeton High School wrestlers have advanced to the NJSIAA Region 5 mat finals, to be held Friday and Saturday at Hunterdon Central High School in Flemington.

Although none was a District 17 champion, each advances under the NJSIAA rule which allows runners-up to continue. The three are Matt Wilkinson, who lost a 5-1 decision to Notre Dame's Chris Cantwell in the 108 lb. division; Bruce Cobb, who lost a 5-2 decision to Jeff Cole of Hunterdon Central in the 101 lb. division, and Keith Wadsworth, who lost a 17-4 decision to Scott Henderson of Hunterdon Central in the 170-lb. division.

Cantwell emerged as the only wrestler from Mercer County to win a district title. He was seeded No. 1 in his division.

As expected, Hunterdon Central once again dominated the District finals, sweeping eight of the 12 individual titles at stake and compiling 162 team points. North Hunterdon was second with 107½ and Voorhees third with 61. Princeton and West Windsor, the two top teams in Mercer County this year, followed

Princeton Wrestling Team Sets Records As It Tops Penn for Final Mark of 19-0

A 41-3 victory over Pennsylvania in Jadwin Gym Saturday enabled Princeton's wrestling team to carve a place for itself in the Tiger record book. Coach Johnny Johnston's team became the first since the sport was introduced here to win 19 matches, the first since 1937 to finish undefeated and the third in Princeton history to do so. The Tigers, who lost only the 190-lb. class to the Quakers while recording three pins, wrapped up the Ivy championship again - their eighth under Johnson in the last 12 years. One of the falls, by 158 lb. Bill Hawley, was recorded in 23 seconds.

Princeton will compete next in the Eastern Intercollegiate Friday and Saturday in the Palestra at Philadelphia, a tournament it has not won since 1941. Lehigh and Penn State, as usual, are expected to provide the stiffest competition.

Captain John Seftor, the defending heavyweight champion; Steve Grubman, 142 pounds, and Bill Myron, 158, all finished the season unbeaten. They and three or four others on the Tiger team also have their sights set on qualifying for the NCAA Tournament at the University of Maryland, scheduled for March 17-19.

with 59½ and 43½. Together, PHS and WW had sent 13 to the semi-final round.

PHS coach Tom Murray said later that he wouldn't be surprised if all three from Princeton High turn around and do well in the region competition. "District 17 is a very strong district," he said. "When they get to the regionals, all will have to wrestle other district champions."

Murray went on to point out that the last time PHS had a district runner-up, Angelo Arcaro went on to defeat three district champions.

Learning Experience. "This was a learning experience for them," continued Murray about the district matches. "They know what they have to do to come back. I hope they have as much confidence in their own ability as I have."

Murray conceded there were a few disappointments but added, "I think we did a helluva fine job. We made a better showing than we have in a long time."

He pointed out that last year PHS had only two reach the semi-finals and none the championship round; this year the numbers were seven and three. PHS ended with three seconds, two thirds and two fourths. In dual meet competition, it lost only one match (17-1) and was the Colonial Valley Conference Champion. For these accomplishments Murray was named District 17's Coach of the Year.

Finishing third for PHS were Dave Wilson, the team captain, who defeated Greg Tollefson of Voorhees, 8-0, in the consolation round at 141 pounds, and Karem El-Meligi, who blanked Notre Dame's Tom Maurer, 7-0, at 188-pounds.

Wilson entered the Districts with a perfect 17-0 record but was seeded second behind Pete DeBoer of North Hunterdon. He lost to the eventual 141 champion, Tom Gible of HC, 7-3, in the semis.

Not Overwhelmed. "It just wasn't Dave's night," said Murray. He was not overwhelmed; the things he tried just didn't go for him. I feel bad for him because he is a good team leader and super kid. He gave me everything he had."

El-Meligi was the only Little Tiger to be top seeded for the event. He was pinned by North Hunterdon's Rick Tkac in 2:24 in the semis. Meligi is a natural 170 pounder and the weight difference caught up to him, Murray reported. Tkac lost to Steve Gible of HC in the final round.

Finishing fourth for PHS were Eric Tazelaar, a 9-5 loser to Jim Holthaus of Voorhees in the consolation round at 122 pounds, and Bob Schmidt, who was edged 2-1 by John Cummings of West Windsor at 135 pounds.

Disheartening. WW coach Ken Bernabe acknowledged that it was disheartening not to have anyone in the finals. Last year the Pirates emerged with two District champions.

"All it takes is one bad match at the wrong time and you're gone," he said. "It was very hard for me and my coaches to be sitting in the stands Saturday night. I thought to myself, 'What the hell are we doing here?'"

The best WW could do, after a series of upsets in the semis, was to capture three consolation victories.

Mark Edenfield decided on Bob Robinson, 8-7, of North Hunterdon in the 115-lb. class; John Houtenville, second seeded in his class, decided on Hopewell Valley's Ed Suydam, 11-2, at 129 pounds; and John Cummings, WW 135 pounder, stopped Princeton's Schmidt. All three are seniors. Three others from WW finished fourth by losing consolation matches. They are Wally McIntyre, pinned in 3:53 by Marty Harmon of HV in the 101-lb. class; Ralph Barletta, who entered the competition with a 17-1-1 record, a 5-1 loser to Rob Welsh of HC at 158 pounds, and heavyweight Tim Gunkle, who lost a hard-fought, 2-2, 6-2 overtime decision to Jeff Crine of Voorhees.

PHS SPLITS LAST TWO For 5-20 Record. The Princeton High School basketball team said goodbye to a dismal season last week when it split its final two regular season games.

The Little Tigers were routed by Steinert Friday night, 74-50, after defeating Marie Katzenbach School for the Deaf two days earlier, 66-52. Assistant coach Ed Beacham guided PHS in both contests.

Mike Fuschini accounted for almost half of Princeton's points in the Steinert loss, tossing in 22. The Spartans' John Ebeling grabbed the spotlight before the home crowd when he became the third Steinert player to top the 1,000 mark and the first since 1972. He scored a game-high 24 points. Steinert led by 14 at the half.

Trotman Expects to Return

An "emotionally drained" Marvin Trotman replied "in all honesty, I don't know," when asked this week if he would be back next year as coach of the Princeton High School basketball team.

Trotman, who returned to the bench to lead the Little Tigers in Monday's NJSIAA playoff game with North Plainfield, said that his status was in the process of evaluation by school officials.

"It's a year-to-year thing. I can say I don't anticipate being fired. I'd be very, very disappointed if I were."

Conjecture about Trotman surfaced when assistant coach Ed Beacham ran the team for three consecutive games and athletic director Norman Van Arsdalen refused to make any comment.

"No one was saying anything so one had to draw his own conclusions," observed Trotman. He added that he felt if school officials were going to act as they did, then they should have the courage to comment. "It's not like any cloak and dagger thing," he said.

Earlier, freshman Peter Sharpless scored a career high 21 to lead the Blue and White over MKSD. He got help from Fuschini who canned 16 and from sophomore Kevin Robinson who added 14 last week at Lawrenceville School's Lavino Field House, edging Hopewell Valley, 52-51. was the second CVC crown for PHS, following on the heels of the CVC championship won by the Little Tiger wrestling team, which was a perfect 5-0 in league competition.

Fuschini is the lone senior on the squad, forcing Trotman to go with young and inexperienced players. Before the start of the season, Trotman had commented that he felt like he was in a box and there was no escape.

There wasn't This was to be his first losing season.

PHS GIRLS OUSTED

From NJSIAA Tournament. Trailing by 28-15 at the half, the Princeton High girls basketball team was eliminated Monday by Metuchen in the opening round of the Central Jersey NJSIAA Group Two girls basketball tournament. The score was 56-42.

Three players for Metuchen each scored 14 points, while Princeton was led by Sally McEwen's 13 and Liz Randall's 10. The game was played at Metuchen.

PHS IS CVC CHAMPION

In Track. By the narrowest of margins, the Princeton High School track team seconds faster than Kellogg, captured the Colonial Valley Kellogg's loss to Roth in the Conference track meet held mile was his first setback in

The final event decided the outcome. Trailing Hopewell Valley, 47-46 going into the mile relay, PHS won the event when Andy Logan, Brad Ogilvie, Bob Wyland and Jon Miller combined for a time of 3:43.7 to Hopewell's 3:45.2. Princeton had also won the regular season title in January, after Hightstown, the apparent winner lost the mile relay when its anchor man illegally tossed the baton to one of his coaches, and was disqualified.

PHS picked up valuable points in the mile and two mile events. Ogilvie (4:51.2) and Steve Doig (4:58.5) finished second and third in the mile behind Hightstown's Scott Roth (4:45.1), while sophomore John Kellogg, Doig, and Chip Garvey finished second, third and fifth in the two mile. Hightstown's Dave Kramer won the that event in league competition.

The Little Tigers also got an assist from the flu which had sidelined Hopewell Valley's top distance runner Geoff Noden. In fact, Hopewell captured firsts in five of the nine events but PHS picked up the points it needed in the distance races. Hightstown and Hopewell were a little short-handed, but "our kids wanted to prove they were the best. They were up for it," said PHS coach Marc Anderson.

Aside from the decisive mile relay, Princeton's only first came in the 880 where Miller won with a clocking of 2:02. Teammates Ogilvie (2:07) and John Perkins (2:10.5) were third and fourth. The meet's lone double winner was Hopewell Valley's Carl Mitchell, who won the 60-yard dash and high jumps.

Also earning points for PHS- and each one proved to be crucial-were Logan and Bernie Chen, second and fourth in the hurdles; Rob Nash, third in the dash; Paul Hoad and Jordan Paul, second and fifth in the shot put; Wyland, third in the 440; and Logan fourth in the high jump.

Hightstown finished third in the meet with 29½ points, followed by West Windsor, 7½, and Notre Dame, 1.

1 UP, 1 TITLE TO GO

For Hun School Quintet. The Hun School basketball team captured the NJSIAA Class A prep school state championship for the second year in a row Saturday when it defeated Peddie, 67-54, and now has turned toward its second title goal: winning the championship of the Penn-Jersey League.

Hun will warm up for the league action with its final regular season game this Wednesday afternoon at 3 against Pennington Prep. The league playoff will start Friday and involve the four top finishers, including Hun.

The Peugeot Diesel: An economy car for the self-indulgent.

Our Peugeot Diesel has much the same headroom and legroom as you'd find in a full-size luxury car. It comes with luxuries like power-assisted rack and pinion steering, four-wheel power disc brakes, fully reclining front bucket seats, two-stage metallic paint, a sliding sunroof, and four-wheel independent suspension for a smooth, stable ride—all as standard equipment. And now an optional three-speed automatic transmission.

But this incredibly luxurious car also gives you the economy of a diesel engine. You won't need any tune-ups. Just change the oil and filter by the book.

You won't need many fill-ups, either, because the Peugeot Diesel gets 35 mpg highway and 28 mpg city, according to EPA estimates.* And to top it off, diesel fuel nationally averages about 9¢ less per gallon than gasoline.†

So come in for a test drive. Because with a Peugeot Diesel, you can indulge yourself. And tell your friends you're just being practical.

Annual IC4-A Track Meet Will Start Saturday At 11 in Jadwin and Run until Sunday at 4:30

Villanova's defending champions and Maryland, the 1976 team winner, will square off in another classic showdown between these arch-rivals in the 57th annual IC4-A indoor track and field meet which involves more than 75 Eastern colleges in a two-day meet in Jadwin Gym.

On Saturday, starting at 11 two finals (long jump and weight throw) and a full afternoon program of qualifying trials will be held. The remaining 16 finals will be decided on Sunday in an action-packed three-hour program in which 13 of 15 individual winners a year ago will be seeking repeat triumphs.

One of the strongest fields of athletes in the meet's long history includes such defending champions as Franklin Jacobs, of FDU, holder of the world indoor high jump record of 7 feet 7 1/2 inches; Villanova's Mark Belger, American indoor 880 recordholder, Don Paige, in the 1000 and Nate Cooper in the triple jump, Maryland's

Greg Robertson, high hurdles, Dennis Ivory, long jump, and Ian Pyka, shotput, along with Adelphi's Kevin Price, 600; Seton Hall's Calvin Dill, 60-yard sprint, and Ed Brown, 440; Army's Curt Alitz, 2-mile, Providence's John Treacy, 3-mile, and Dave Lipinski, of William and Mary, pole vault.

New challengers making their debut threaten the champions, chiefly Maryland's Bob Calhoun, sprint star and 26-1 long jumper, and his freshman teammate, Benaldo (Skeets) Nehemiah, from Fanwood-Scotch Plains High, the No. 1 schoolboy hurdler a year ago and new holder of the world indoor 60-yard high hurdles record of 7.07 seconds.

Villanova has won this indoor title 14 times since 1957, and has been the perennial "team to beat" in the last twenty years. Maryland, with victories in 1976 and 1966, is the only team during this stretch of two decades which has taken the IC4-A Cup from Villanova twice.

Other IC4-A leaders to watch are Richmond's Jesse Williams, a freshman whose 6.13 at 60 yards is only two-hundredths from the world indoor record; Gerald Deegan, freshman at Providence from Ireland, in the 2 or 3 mile, Rhode Island's Bill Hartley, outdoor pole vault champion, and Adelphi's Kevin Price, who has forged to the front with 1:09.5 in the 600.

Northeastern, the Greater Boston champion, has Mark Leeb (600); Tom Mortimer, 4:04.8 miler, Bruce Bickford, outdoor IC4A steeplechase champion, and field power for a tray at the leaders.

Admission is $4 Saturday and $5 on Sunday, with the first event Sunday at 1:30.

Academy of New Church and Germantown Friends.

Hun coach Dave Leete announced that Hun's first opponent will probably be Academy of New Church at a Pennsylvania site. Both New Church and Germantown Friends upset Hun in regular season play and Leete observed that the playoff will give Hun "a chance to get back at both of them."

"It was a good win," acknowledged Leete, after capturing the Class A crown. Hun proved again that it can win without Ron Payton when its high scoring forward fouled out with 5:10 left to go. "We hung in there," said Leete.

Payton and Bob Innocenzi, co-captains of the Hun team, which is presently 20-4 and within easy striking distance of bettering the record of the most games ever won by a Hun team in a single season (21), combined to get Hun off to a quick start. Each hit for six points from outside in the first period as Hun took an 18-10 lead.

Innocenzi finished shooting six of eight from the floor en route to a 14-point performance. "He played a very good game," Leete said. "He kept us going early in the game."

Payton, one of the most sought-after schoolboy players around, added 16. He can do it all. His stats in Hun's 74-62 victory over Newark Academy in the opening round of the state tournament are an illustration: 10 of 17 from the floor for a game-high 26 points, 11 rebounds, six assists and five steals.

No Decision Yet by Payton. As the offers pour in, the rumors increase as to where Payton is going to spend his college career. Reports that he would go to St. John's are just speculation, said Leete. "He hasn't made up his mind yet."

Leete added the decision will probably come at the end of the season. One of the schools Payton has applied to is Princeton.

In addition to Payton and Innocenzi, Pete Black and Brian Lee also hit double figures for Hun, Black scoring 14, Lee 11. When Payton fouled out, Peddie (12-9) trailed by 16.

"I'd like to see a directory or calendar with pictures of all these people who deserve credit for keeping the town together and aren't cold at all."

"It would help a newcomer or student: 'Where do I vote?' 'Who do I turn to with an emergency?' 'I need something at the public library' The school board is definitely interested. I've talked to the Community Phone Book people and they might be interested in a 'back-of-the-book' kind of thing, but that's only a half-way measure. As I say, the more I think about it, the more it grows..."

Along these lines, Mr. Woodbridge has asked Chief Carnevale to collect photographs of all members of the Borough Police Force. And the Commissioner would really like to round up the whole force once a year for a group photograph.

"From a historical point of view, maybe the Princeton Recollector in a hundred years, or 'Son of Princeton Recollector' would be eager to have it."

Another thing that bothers Mr. Woodbridge: he doesn't think the Borough Hall telephone number -- 924-3119 -- is easy enough to remember.

"I've found that 921-BORO and 924-RORO are already taken. And do you know? This suggestion really polarized the people who replied to my list."

Another suggestion didn't merely polarize people, it drew a unanimous "No!" It was the suggestion for a Suggestion Box.

FUNDRAISER PLANNED

By Three Jewish Groups. The Princeton chapters of B'nai Brith Women, Hadassah, and the Women's Division are sponsoring a fund-raiser and social event on Saturday night, March 4, at 7:30 at the Jewish Center.

The evening, entitled "Marching Forth On The Lower East Side," will be a potpourri of lower east side festivities, such as pushcart booths filled with bargains and delicatessen style food reminiscent of Orchard Street. However, some of the booths will have more of an upper east side, Bloomingdale's quality featuring some excellent quality bargains.

The highlight of the evening will be an auction of goods and services, such as hot air

Girls' Soccer Tourney

Buoyed by the success of the first Princeton Classic Indoor Soccer Tournament held for boys' teams February 20-22, a similar event has been planned for girls' teams this Friday and Saturday at Princeton Day School.

Tournament Director Tom DeVito, PDS coach, reported that some 28 teams have already signed up with the possibility of two or three more. Teams will compete in four divisions, 18-and-under, 16-and-under, 14-and-under and 12-and-under, beginning at 4 p.m. Saturday and continuing into Sunday evening.

The same rule modifications will be in effect with five players on a side for the two older divisions, and six for the other two. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Princeton's Finest

As Borough Police Commissioner, Richard Woodbridge has sturdy, honest devotion and respect where the Borough Police Force is concerned.

"I'd stack them, officer for officer, against the police force of any other town in the state," he declares, "in terms of intellectual ability, professionalism and physical trim. You could even say there is a scholar-athlete or two on the force."

"It's also a very diversified force: blacks, whites, Italians, East Indian, Irish, men, women..."

JAZZ TRIP PLANNED

For Seniors. The Recreation Department is sponsoring a cultural trip Friday, March 3, for the senior citizens of Princeton to a performance by jazz pianist and composer Eubie Blake at Rutgers University.

This 95 year old American musician is the composer of many early musical comedies on Broadway and popular tunes for films. For additional information, or to register, call Lucy Brearley at 924-3157.

CERAMICS CLASS SET

For Seniors. The Recreation Department will sponsor a ceramics class for Princeton senior citizens, beginning March 6. The program will run on Monday and Wednesday mornings, between 10 and 12 until May 3.

Mrs. Dawn Webb is the instructor for the ceramics class which will be held in the old art room of the Valley Road School. Greenware, tools, paints, glazes, stains, and other materials will be available. All Princeton Senior Citizens are welcome. Call the Recreation Department at 921-9480 to register before March 1.

points; the closest it could cut that margin was eight. Payton said later that the win proved Hun wasn't a one-man team. "This was a championship performance as a team."

Newark Academy was no match for Hun. Hun scored the first 12 points of the game and led 18-2 after the first eight minutes. By halftime, the margin was 35-16.

Hun's Pete Black enjoyed his best offensive performance, connecting for 20 points. The losers outscored Hun, 29-23, in the final period, but by then the outcome had long been decided.

HUN WINS NO. 21

Crushes PSD, 111-40. Scoring almost as many points in the third quarter (35) as its opponent did in the entire game, the Hun School basketball team Monday crushed Pennsylvania School for the Deaf, 111-40. It was a single game scoring record for Hun, which increased its win-loss record to 21-4.

Ron Payton, the area's leading scorer, maintained his average by hitting for a game-high 28. Pete Black added 14 for Hun.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED

In Leader Corps Program. The Leader Corps of the Princeton Community Tennis Program has been revamped.

It is now open to 9th through 12th grade players of advanced ability. Members will be picked based on their qualifications.

All those presently in the Leader Corps will remain in the program. In addition, no volunteer hours will be required before members can receive a salary.

The new Leader Corps organization offers a chance for juniors to train to be full-fledged instructors, since it offers a structured training program.

Those interested in joining the program should attend the annual Princeton Community Tennis meeting to be held Tuesday, March 14 at 7 at Community Park School.

PHS Five NJSIAA Winner

"If we put it together, we should win the ball game handily." Princeton High basketball coach Marvin Trotman had predicted.

Well, the Little Tigers didn't win handily, but win they did -- in overtime -- by one point. In the first round of play Monday in the Central Jersey NJSIAA Group 2 competition, they defeated North Plainfield, 57-56, on the losers' home court.

Mike Fuschini led PHS with 30 points. His jump shot with 15 seconds left decided it.

PHS will play again this Wednesday evening at 8, taking on first-seeded Asbury Park. The game will take place in the Asbury Park Middle School gym.
